Quiet Move to Increase Colma Police Force

By FRANK LaPIERRE

Colma Police Chief Raymond Ottoboni Jr. is asking the city council for support in establishing a six-man police reserve unit in that city of 500 residents.

Observers see the movement as the first step in phasing out the Broadmoor Police Department which has provided police service to the community for the past seven years.

Exactly how the proposed department will function or how much the unit will cost Colma has not been made public.

Chief Ottoboni has refused public comment on the new department.

Asked for details of the reserve force Ottoboni, who took over as police chief on the death of "Dini" Lagomarsino last year, acknowledged the matter "is public information, but you're not getting it."

City councilmen have also shied away from answering any questions on the reserve unit, noting they have not been officially informed concerning the unit by Chief Ottoboni.

Broadmoor Police Chief Raymond Savage signed the new contract in September 1971 which provide police protection for the small community between Daly City and South San Francisco for some $2,700 per month.

The amount is figured on the basis of one per cent of the city's assessed property valuation.

The new contract, with its open end financial arrangement, is expected to be an excellent source of money for the Broadmoor Police District.

As Colma's commercial complex near the Serramonte Shopping Center grows, Broadmoor's income based on the one per cent agreement, will rise.

It is pointed out by Broadmoor's officials however, that the costs are the same as its own residents pay for police protection.

Chief Ottoboni, son of Colma Mayor Raymond Ottoboni Sr., has sent a letter to the State regarding insurance coverage for the six officers, even though no formal council action has been taken to accept the proposed officers or even the establishment of a police force in the cemetery city.

The last action of the council on the matter came last week when city attorney Robert H. Cornell was instructed to review a list of rules and regulations governing reserve officers conduct submitted by Chief Ottoboni.

Prior to that, Cornell was instructed to draw up a resolution governing police reserves in the town.

Names submitted for consideration to the reserve force were: James Sunia, Paul Breummer, 27, Michael Belmessierie, 24; Gary Bernardini, 21; Thomas Harrington, 24; and John Tomasello, 25.

All are residents of Colma, according to Ottoboni.

Five of the proposed officers have had background checks by an outside law agency, it was learned.

Section 1031 of the Government Code, February 1972, regarding minimum standards for peace officers, states that officers must be citizens of the United States; 21 years old; fingerprinted to disclose any criminal record; high school graduates or be able to pass a GED test indicating they have a high school grade level of knowledge; be in good health and "of good moral character as determined by a thorough background investigation."

The Peace Officers Standards and Training (POST) regulation 1002 stipulates the same items, but adds that a prospective officer should not have been convicted by any state or federal government of a crime, punishment for which could have been imprisonment in a federal or state prison.

Daly City uses as a guideline three moving traffic violations within a five year period as a general rule for dismissal.

Three of the six persons nominated to the Colma police posts have between six and eight traffic citations — from speeding to modification of an auto exhaust system. One prospect has a tampering with a car violation filed against him. Another of no license in his possession.

Of the three others, one has not been cleared by an outside agency, another was involved in a vehicle accident, and the remaining applicant has only one speeding citation filed against him.

Moving of D.C. Court Delayed

Judge Charles Becker's Municipal Court in Daly City, scheduled to be moved to the new wing of the North County courthouse in South San Francisco this weekend against the wishes of the judge and Daly City officials, got an indefinite reprieve Friday.

Henry P. Tarratt, county director of building construction and general services, said he called off the move because workmen have been unable to correct flaws in the air conditioning system.

"I'm not at all confident that they will be able to get the job done in another week," Tarratt said. "It could be two weeks." The problem, the county official explained, is that the system is noisy, a condition that would be unacceptable in a courthouse. Efforts to control the noise, he said, have diminished the quality of the air conditioning itself.

"Everybody's unhappy," Tarratt said, "particularly the contractors, who have to get the system working right at their own expense."

The prime contractor is Stevenson Pacific Company and the mechanical subcontractor is Redwood Plumbing Company.

Daly City officials and civic leaders have campaigned to keep the court in Daly City. The County Board of Supervisors reaffirmed March 7, after listening to pleas of a Daly City delegation, that the move will be made, however.

A lawsuit was filed last week by a former Daly City judge, Thomas L. Bocci Jr., who alleged that the late county supervisor, Thomas Hickey, made a commitment that a branch of the Municipal Court would be located in Daly City permanently.

Serramonte Quiet After Disturbance

The mood at Daly City's Serramonte High School was charged with bitterness on Friday morning as scattered arguments and an occasional fist-fight broke out between a handful of black students and white students.

Authorities at the school had their hands full trying to cool off hot-tempered students who blame the recent resignation of a black mathematics teacher on the "white administration" of the Jefferson Union High School District.

While Principal Louis J. Martin, his shirt splattered with blood from an effort to break up a fight between two students, met with aides, a small group of black parents lectured students outside the building on a list of demands they were to present to the school administration.

The list included rehiring of math instructor Roosevelt Thomas (who resigned effective last Tuesday); hiring of more black teachers; more black literature in the school library, and, the ousting of what was called "white teachers who are prejudiced."

Off and on throughout the morning, classes were completely disrupted as the parents' group tried to rally support among students for their demands.

Principal Martin said a small group of about 30 students — from all ethnic backgrounds — were responsible for the on-campus ruckus.

Absenteeism normally acounts for some 185 students at Serramonte. Friday the figure rose to about 300, it was learned.

Enrollment at the school is 1,400 students.

Martin said Thomas knew last January he would not be given tenure for the upcoming school year after three years in the district.

Thomas' alternative to being fired was to offer his resignation on or before last Tuesday.

The teacher held a session with students and explained he knew what he was doing and preferred to resign, Martin said.

"It's obvious some students failed to listen to Thomas and made up their own minds on this matter," Martin said.

SSF Halts Probe of Attorney

By BOB PETERSON

The investigation of attorney David Friedenberg's political activities ordered February 22 by three South San Francisco councilmen was called off Monday night on a unanimous vote.

Councilman Patrick Ahern, instigator of the motion to "appraise" Friedenberg's political activities, made public a letter he said he prepared, and that would be sent to Alan W. Haverty, president of the North County Bar Association.

The North County bar had earlier adopted a resolution denouncing approval of the motion by Ahern, Councilman Frank Bertucelli and Mayor Bill Borba that instructed City Attorney John Noonan and City Manager Gale Dreisbach to investigate Friedenberg's political background.

Action to rescind the previous 3-2 decision came after attorney I. R. Goodman, attorney for Friedenberg, had filed an alternate writ of mandate in Superior Court in Redwood City this past Friday.

The writ, signed by Superior Court Judge Melvin E. Cohn, names the entire council and says that Friedenberg's civil rights may be violated and that public funds may be expended improperly unless the council call off the investigation.

In a declaration filed with the lawsuit, which was served on City Clerk Arthur Rodondi Monday afternoon, it was stated "such an investigation (of Friedenberg) would tend to inhibit taxpayers' access to the courts by intimidating their attorney.

"More important, such an investigation would tend to inhibit citizens from criticism of the city and city council, all of which is guaranteed to those citizens."

In the letter to Haverty signed by Ahern, the councilman read a section from the minutes which led up to the passage of the 3-2 vote to decision to investigate.

Ahern had stated that since both Friedenberg and his client Robert Albright have been involved in political activities in the city, he (Friedenberg) wouldn't object to having his political activities and philosophies appraised.

Friedenberg had replied "Not at all."

From this Ahern said, "It is obvious that Mr. Friedenberg and I understood each other at that point. It is also obvious that at that moment neither of us considered the discussion of the motion that followed as resulting from the filing of a taxpayers action by an attorney. The advantage of giving such a meaning to the discussion and motion occurred later."

Friedenberg, contacted later, said he was not objecting to having his political activities and philosophies appraised, but he didn't know it was going to be done with city staff and public funds.

Ahern also said he agrees with the bar association that no act should be done to end the representation by an attorney. "But I also hold the opinion that anyone who engages in political activity affecting the public welfare also offers his political record for public review.

"Unfortunately in this instance the two rights have become so muddled that no purpose can be served by further pursuing the matter."

Ahern also claims taxpayer funds were not authorized for the investigation, "as the city manager and city attorney were to accomplish the review on their own time."

He said neither staff member had received any direction from himself "or others" as to how to proceed in making such a review.

Before Ahern could make his motion to rescind the earlier motion, Councilman Bertucelli quickly made it.

After the 5-0 approval to rescind the earlier action, Mayor Borba smiled and said he was glad there was a unanimous decision.

"What did you expect?" asked Councilman Frank Mammini, who along with Councilman Warren Steinkamp emphatically opposed the original action.

Mammini later called for an executive session "on a personnel matter." Noonan attended the session.

'Emergency' Rezone Law In San Bruno

San Bruno city councilmen Monday night adopted an emergency ordinance to forestall a repetition of the "Seven-Eleven Market" controversy that has rocked the Crestmoor area.

They voted to rezone a commercial neighborhood area in Portola Highlands to R-1, single family residential. The site is located on Sneath and Skyline, and occupies several acres. It is even bigger than the Seven-Eleven Market site on San Bruno Avenue and Crestmoor Drive. This site is owned by the State Division of Highways. City Manager Gerald Minford had received unofficial word that the state was planning to sell the site, which had once been proposed for a service station.

With its emergency zoning, the site will remain R-1 for only 80 days. However, the council directed the planning commission to start proceedings for a permanent rezoning, involving a series of public hearings.

Meanwhile, Councilman George Corey announced that a letter had just been receibd by Seven-Eleven developer Bob Berryman from the Division of Highways directing him to cease and desist any use he is making of the portion of his property that is still in process of reverting from the Division to him. This portion of his land includes the frontages on both San Bruno Avenue and Crestmoor Drive but not the actual portion of the site where the buildings are now going up.

Mrs. Terri Rasmussen of Dover Court, however, alleged that construction was still going on,

Over 100 Citizens at Redevelopment Meet

More than 100 residents of Pacifica's Sharp Park area, concerned about the implications of redevelopment, Monday night met in an informational session at the Sharp Park Library.

City officials deny any redevelopment plans of any type exist.

Resident Jerry Clifford, who along with neighbor Jim Coleman set up the meeting, said the Sharp Park Improvement Association (of which they are members) wants to know "where we stand "on redevelopment."

Murmurs around city hall are that the meeting was politically motivated.

Two council candidates were at the meeting, which conflicted with a scheduled city council meeting. The candidates in attendance were John Geary and Virginia Jaeger.

"There is a lot of talk about people who would like to develop. Some may be fact. Some may be rumor," said Clifford. "But the people are shaken."

He said one of the main purposes of the meeting was to have a "unification" of the people in the area.

Clifford also claimed that residents "are fearful of things happening politically, in that not everything is being told to them.

"I could label people and cite examples," he said. "But I wouldn't like to do that. We just feel we do not have proper representation. The people are fearful of the future (of the area).

"We'll have to wait for subsequent events (such as the April elections) and then anticipate what move we can make," said Clifford.

"We are not being informed about what is happening. With the election we hope to get trustworthy people on the council who will keep us informed," he said.

Coleman had invited attorney Tom Adams, a specialist in redevelopment with the county legal aid society who presently represents "Citizens to save old Daly City," a group fighting redevelopment in that North County city.

Adams said he was only asked to discuss the legal aspects of redevelopment in general. He said he told them that in general redevelopment could be done without their approval.

"If the group (in Sharp Park) wants our representation and they meet eligibility criteria, we'll represent them," said Adams.

The criteria for eligibility is that there be a substantial number of poor people in the area, and that they be active participants. "That's the only way I could justify representing them," said Adams. "We already have more clients than we need."

The fact that many of the residents in the area are either retired, widows or widowers on small pensions, social security or welfare is considered common knowledge.

According to Clifford, the Sharp Park Improvement association is working on a "face-

Declining Birthrate Causes Problems

A declining birthrate is causing a problem for some parents of the South San Francisco Unified School District.

Because of fewer children of elementary school age a new school facility that was projected for the Westborough Greens and Westborough Hills section of the city will not at the present time be built.

That means children of those areas will have to be transported to other school sites, many of which, incidentally, also have empty classrooms.

Going to a different area to school because of necessity is one thing, but being arbitrarily shuttled about is another.

This was the main concern of a group of parents attending the Monday night meeting of the school board.

Led by Ray Connors, 3760 Bettman Way, and Dan Janda, 3718 Bettman Way, the parents expressed a desire to have their children all attend the same school, and to remain at that school, instead of being jockeyed about for the next couple of years.

Superintendent Paul Nielsen said, "We can make a pledge to do everything possible to keep you at Avalon," the school the district plans to transport children in the area to, who now attend Skyline School.

"But, I don't think we can use the word 'guarantee' because we don't know what the future holds," said Nielsen. He said there also would be an attempt to keep the children of that particular area together as much as possible.

Retirement-Age Teacher Will Return to JESD

Thanks to the efforts of her pupils and fellow teachers Marianne Schwabacher will be back to teach her kindergarten classes at the Vista Grande School in Daly City next year.

Through the combined efforts of the children, teachers and administration of the Jefferson Elementary School District the much-liked teacher will stay on in the 1972-73 school year.

But Mrs. Schwabacher will not receive tenure under the arrangement approved Wednesday by the school board. She will be hired on a year-to-year basis, having reached the mandatory retirement age.

In a letter to school superintendent Frank L. Greenwood, the teacher said:

"My retirement at this time, after 12 years of experience as an elementary school teacher, would only leave me with a small pension."

She said she was in "excellent health, as my records show," and "thoroughly enjoyed" working with the kindergarten children at Vista Grande.

"I will be able, as I have in the past, to devote my time and efforts wholeheartedly to my work, since my own children are all grown and I have very few responsibilities at home," she informed Greenwood.

In other action at a special school board meeting Wednesday the Board hired a school community representative whose duties include seeing that children attend school, acting as a liaison between the school district and juvenile courts, developing and maintaining an effective pupil accounting system.

Daly City's Opportunity Heralded

"Daly City has arrived at a new threshold which affords it an opportunity for sound long term growth," attorney Paul Hupf said on Tuesday.

Hupf, a candidate for the city council in the upcoming April 11 race, said it is the approaching completion of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District (BART) station on Knowles Avenue that will provide the city with this opportunity "and it is for this reason primarily that I am a candidate for the city council."

"I have no other interest in seeking office at this time than to do what I can to bring about proper and correct growth to Daly City," Hupf said, adding "I do not intend to seek other political office."

The former municipal judge said BART would bring change to the city "whether we want it or not" and felt this change "can be good or it can be bad."

BART means offices and commercial activity and revitalization along Mission Street if it is carefully planned and good judgement used in this planning, Hupf said.

"Otherwise BART means cheap apartments and instant slums," he predicted.

Drug Suspect Is Arrested

A young Millbrae man is being held under $25,000 bail today, after being arrested on charges of possessing and selling drugs.

Daniel Edward Ford, 23, 1120 Elmwood Drive, was arrested by Millbrae police on a warrant charging him with sale of dangerous drugs. The warrant had been issued by Central Judicial District Court, with bail set at $5,000.

While being booked, police said, Ford was found to have 70 "seconal" tablets in his possession.

After conferring with Judge William Lanam, Ford was charged with the additional crime of possession, with bail raised by $20,000.

SSF Teeners Mourn a 'Dead' Law

A contingent of about 50 teen-agers draped in black as mourners of the dead bottle and can ordinance in South San Francisco, Monday listened as councilmen were told the Bowie, Md., ordinance is "valid, legal and binding."

David Fassler, one of a trio who fought for passage of a similar ordinance in South San Francisco, brought the news to the council.

He said he was not speaking as a representative of the bottle-can group, but just wanted the council to know that an ordinance they once approved, and later rescinded on a 3-2 vote, has stood the first legal test in Maryland.

One of two councilmen who voted not to rescind the bottle and can ordinance — Warren Steinkamp—wore a can beverage container tied to his arm with a black band, as did the youths in the audience. The other councilman favoring the retention of the ordinance was Councilman Frank Mammini.

lift" type of plan of their own to present to the city. No legal moves are anticipated at that time.

"We just want a chance to clean up and fix up our houses, and not be pushed off the land," he said. "Of course, I'm just speaking for myself. But I think

"Some individuals want to sell out now because they are fearful that later (with some type of redevelopment) the value will go down," said Clifford. "But anyone with a knowledge of what may happen in this area is not interested in buying."

Geary has an office in the Sharp Park area that was once singled out for a building moratorium late last year, but was subsequently dropped because of citizen resistence.

The realtor urged that the Sharp Park Improvement group prepare a plan of their own or they would be handed one by the city. "My position is that if the city has only one plan, that'll be the one that's accepted."

Geary said he also feels that once the Sharp Park area west of the Coast Highway were redeveloped, redevlopment would spread to Pedro Point and to Sharp Park on the other side of the highway.

Les Clark, director of community development, said the moratorium attempt that failed ended any further work as far as the staff is concerned on any type of redevelopment or urban renewal.

He said he met shortly after the moratorium with a number of citizens who had signed their names on a list to discuss other methods of upgrading the area. "I felt they understood the city's position," he said.

Mayor Grace McCarthy said, "The council and staff are fully cooperative to do what the people (in the Sharp Park area) want to do. We want very much to help them," she said.

He wore no symbol of protest, however.

Fassler said he would like to see the matter of the prohibition of non-disposable bottles and cans placed on the ballot. "Now that the courts have decided, let the people decide," he said.

Response came from Mayor Bill Borba who told Fassler that he had just returned from a trip to Washington, D.C., and there talked with mayors of cities throughout the nation who all are against such bottle and can ordinances.

Borba asked City Manager Gale Dreisbach, who attended the mayor's conference with Borba, to back him up.

Dreisbach explained that the point of the mayors attending an environmental committee session was to do their utmost to balance unemployment with the demands being made by youth for elimination of non-returnable bottles and cans.

Fassler said he had "facts" that non-returnables cause more unemployment than returnables. He also said he doubted Borba's statement that all mayors are against bottle and can ordinances since the mayor of Bowie introduced the ordinance that is now in effect in that Maryland city.

Steinkamp said he has a friend who works at a brewery that told him it takes 35 men to operate bottle washing machines and they are only running four to six hours a week.

"It seems to me that if we had returnables we would keep a lot of people working," said Steinkamp.

The Bowie, Md., ordinance was legally challenged on state and federal constitutional grounds by bottling companies, retailers and supermarket chains.

Youngest Forelady's Verdict

A Superior Court jury featuring the state's youngest forelady returned a verdict of guilt in a false prescription case in Redwood City last week.

Debra G. Hermone, 19-year-old South San Francisco clerk, became the county's first teen-age juror Monday, two days after the state law lowering the age of adulthood to 18 went into effect. Her fellow jurors honored her by electing her forelady.

Following four hours and 20 minutes of deliberation, the jury convicted Marlene Celia Segal Pickford of San Francisco on the prescription charge.

P-TA Council's Annual 'Tea'

The Jefferson Council of P-TA's will hold its annual Honorary Life Tea at the Jefferson Elementary School District's headquarters Sunday.

The event, at 101 Lincoln, will be held from 2 to 4 p.m., according to Mrs. Carmen Burrows, chairman of the event, who may be contacted for details at 992-2866.

and asked if the building permit could not be revoked.

Mrs. Carly Peters of 3110 Crestmoor Drive announced that a group of Crestmoor Drive residents has just hired Ted Long, to represent them in an action against Berryman. She meanwhile asked if the city's liability could not have covered the Council if they had ordered the building permit withheld and Berryman had them sued.

Corey retorted that when the city loses a lawsuit, it also either gets a steep increase in its insurance premiums, or loses its insurance altogether.

Councilmen also acted in the case of two other sites being sold by the Division of Highways. These involved a 2075-square foot lot next to 908 Third Avenue and a 3281-square foot site next to 913 Third Avenue. The sites are listed as $4000 and $5000 for minimum bids, and are described as R-1, single family. The notices of sealed bid issued by the state, however, fails to mention that San Bruno discourages building on lots smaller than 5000 square feet. Bid opening is March 22.

Councilmen directed Minford to investigate using the sites for mini-parks. The two sites are on both sides of the end of a dead-end street.

The fate of another slice of property owned by the Division of Highways was raised during a public hearing on the proposed O (open-space) zoning law. The council voted to adopt the ordinance, at its first of two readings, by a 5-0 vote.

Speaking for the O zone was its main proponent, Leon Miller, former Planning Commission chairman. He raised the possibility that slices of land on high banks on both sides of Skyline Boulevard in the Pacific Heights area — now the site of spectacular forest vistas — may soon be sold as surplus property, under a new policy under which the Division has been orderd to divest itself of surplus propery. This was his major candidate for O zoning.

Miller reported that he obtained samples of the ordinance from Monterey County where it had apparently been successful.

During the hearing, Mike Kaiser of Third Avenue supported the new zoning, saying that there ought to be some other way of keeping land open other than "having a private party dig a hole in it, stick a coffin in and calling it a cemetery."

Mayor Maury Hamilton noted that the O zone would have very limited use since the city would not be able to zone any land for open space without the concent of the owner, since it would be denying the owner use of his own land.

"Then — you'd better be prepared to buy it," he declared.

Gary Mondfrans, 718 Pepper Drive, urged that once land has been zoned for open space, it would not revert to its previous use. Also, political signs should not be permitted on such land which should be kept in its original state.

Committee Chief Set

Ralph C. Hall, a Daly City insuranceman, has been named to head the newly formed 25 member Daly City Redevelopment Agency Advisory Committee.

Vice chairman of the committee is Harry Smith Jr.

Hall has been a resident of Daly City for the past 26 years and makes his home in the affected area.

His contributions to the community include active participation in the city Chamber of Commerce, Mission merchants Association, and the General Plan Citizens' Committee.

National Drive-in Bank Proposed for Millbrae

A "first national drive-in bank" was to be proposed to the Millbrae Planning Commission Monday, but plans weren't [illegible] and the matter was held over.

Architectural and landscaping plans are being prepared by Neil Vannucci for a bank on the site of the former "Fling's" quick service hamburger shop at 1539 El Camino Real.

Commissioners also withheld action on another client represented by Vannucci, the owners of the Houmis apartments at 496 Richmond Drive.

The owners, recent purchasers of the five-unit building, had asked for Planning Commission approval of a sixth dwelling unit illegally added to the building some two or three years ago.

Commissioners indicated they would reject the plea, but agreed to withhold action while Vannucci attempts replanning to a possibly more satisfactory scheme.

The commission verbally wrestled with Alpha Land Company's latest plans for a "Millbrae Heights" condominium, and finally agreed to tentative approval.

After an hour of discussion, commissioners voted 4-1 to approve a site plan, and building elevation plans, and to accept the tentative parcel map.

No action will be taken on a use permit to allow the condominiums, until word is received from the State Division of Real Estate on statement of builder liability that Millbrae wants to include.

Commissioners approved a variance to allow Ralph Johnson's request for permission to build a garage addition closer to the side-yard property lines than usual.

They also adopted a proposed amendment to the city's sign ordinance, which would allow any merchant to put up a sign of at least 30 square feet, no matter how small his storefront.

COPE Endorses Jim Edwards

The Committee on Political Education (COPE) of the Central Labor Council AFL-CIO in San Mateo County has voted to endorse J.B. (Jim) Edwards in the Jefferson Elementary School Board election on April 11.

Edwards met with the committee last week to discuss his educational philosophy and ideas.

At the conclusion of his presentation, Edwards received a spontaneous standing ovation from the committee members.

According to a veteran observer, that overwhelming a response had never been afforded a local political candidate in all the years he had been attending meetings.

Edwards is campaigning on a strong management and common sense platform with special emphasis on total community involvement.

Air Traffic Increases

Air passenger traffic through San Francisco International Airport during January, 1972, showed an increase for the fourth consecutive month.

January's passenger total was 1,133,293, up 5.7 per cent from last year. The first seven months of the 1971-72 fiscal year showed a .1 per cent gain over the corresponding 1970-71 period.

"These successive monthly air passenger increases are very gratifying," Airport Director James K. Carr. "And it is an indication that they mark the beginning of a continued upward trend in air travel."

Carr reported air freight shipments for January also increased for the sixth consecutive month. The January figure of 41,031,659 pounds was a gain of 5.4 per cent and brought the seven months total to 410,031,659 pounds, an increase of 9.8 per cent.

Tense Life at San Bruno Jail Facility

By FRANK LaPIERRE

There is a tenseness at the San Francisco County jail in San Bruno these days.

It can be felt as soon as the guard opens the front gate and you step into the prison grounds.

Prison chief Thomas James Burns will retire in August after 36 years with the San Francisco Sheriff's Department. The purpose of our visit to the 37-year-old jail was to interview him regarding changes in the state's prison system over the past three decades.

I first met Burns four years ago when residents of the area surrounding the prison and several of the deputy sheriffs at the jail lodged complaints against the then Matthew Carberry administration.

Having worked under four elected and two "interim" sheriffs, Burns is considered a competent politician with much experience in penal administration.

Of late, he admits a certain amount of disillusionment with goings-on within the facility, and the entire penal system in California.

Burns is not alone in his disillusionment.

We talked with other deputies, including a 16-year veteran of the department now assigned to the San Bruno facility.

Throughout a two hour conversation with Burns Tuesday it became increasingly evident that the chief was unhappy with the "new" policy at the prison set down by Sheriff Richard Hongisto.

"This is like Market Street (in downtown S.F.) with people walking in and out all the time," Burns told one phone caller who wanted to preach religion to inmates.

The phone rings almost constantly nowadays. Four years ago our discussion was only occasionally interrupted.

Burns fields all questions—from persons interested in donating books to the jail (Pan American Airways gives hundreds of magazines monthly) to the curious.

Burns and his guards admit they are tense these days.

"But we aren't afraid," Burns quickly replies. "Last week (during an incident involving some inmates) these men showed tact and good sense in performing their duties.

Sheriff's sergeant Earl Mayhew related a similar story adding "we haven't heard anything good about the way we perform our job here."

Burns has been chief at the prison for 15 years, having joined the department on February 3, 1937.

WW II interrupted his career and he did tours in the Army (1) and the Navy (2 tours) always staying in fields related to police work.

Born in the Mission District of San Francisco near the neighborhood that reared Carberry, Burns grew up in San Francisco. He is married and the father of a son, recently discharged from the Navy, and a daughter who teaches second grade in a San Jose school.

Occasionally his "Irish is up" and he "says what he has to," one deputy told us.

The entire penal system has changed since the end of the World War II, Burns said.

However, he will not point the finger of blame to any one group or individual regarding "why" it has changed, only "how" it has changed over the years.

The prisons are closing because the prison population is decreasing, statistics reveal.

Where are the inmates going? Is crime on the decrease?

"Not at all," Burns says. "They are sending criminals to county jails instead of the penitentiary from Superior courts."

San Bruno was built in 1938 with a San Francisco bond issue of $780,000. Of this amount some $35,000 was turned back to the city.

It was built for 600 minimum security inmates.

Today, San Bruno jail has 673 men and 56 women inmates.

Of this number 42½ per cent were sent from the Superior Court to San Bruno rather than San Quentin; 43½ per cent were sent from Municipal Court to San Bruno on charges other than being drunk; only 14 per cent at the jail are the type of inmate the prison was designed for more than three decades ago.

The average stay of an inmate at San Bruno is 88 days. Each year some 8,000 prisoners come in and leave the yellow concrete structure.

The grounds look worse nowadays than they did four years ago.

"That's because in the 'old days' we could put 200 guys out there to care for it. Now, because of the type of criminal we have, we're lucky to get 20 men out there," Burns said.

The food is the same. It has not changed from the time Carberry was the target for criticism.

At best it is tasty and there appears to be enough of it. At its worst it is monotonous fare for the prisoners who spend much of their day lounging around on their tiers.

The often-repeated statement of Sheriff Hongisto is that he has only 68 cents a day to feed each prisoner. What he does not say is that volume buying (the jail purchases are included with several other county facilities including the hospital) coupled with the beef, chickens, eggs, and 350,000 pounds of vegetables the jail grows annually help hold the cost line.

Everyone acknowledges more money could be used at the jail to spice up meals, or repair showers, floors that are peeling, and hire additional personnel.

On the realistic side, however, they know there will be no money forthcoming until the new fiscal year starts in July.

Carberry often asked for money, jail personnel explain. He went about it differently than the present sheriff they add.

Hongisto uses a "different tack,' is the way some deputies tell it.

He brings the jail problems to the public by using the news media — radio, television and newspapers.

And he makes "mountains out of molehills" by expanding on every incident that occurs at the jail, others accuse.

What irritates the deputies is that while inmates get a chance to air their grievances on TV, prison personnel are not extended this same privilege.

Burns said his credo is "to be fair to both the inmates and my deputies."

And he doesn't allow guards to take out their moods on inmates. By the same token he doesn't allow inmates to vent their anger at his guards.

In recent months, since Hongisto's administration resumed control of the jails, inmates have been inflamed to riot on several occasions.

Much of the rioting has been attributed by inmates to the food. They claim it's bad.

But several of Hongisto's personnel, including Sergeant Mayhew and occasionally Burns, eat the same food as the prisoners.

There are some "pluses" on the present administration's ledger, deputies contacted said.

The new schooling program that offers day and night classes and expanded library are two.

To the person who has visited the prison in the past things have not changed.

Morale among guards seems to have deteriorated, while inmates now appear to have a bigger voice in how the jail is to be run.

School Tax Rate Decided

Acting on the assumption that it will be necessary to proceed with the high school district unification elections in San Mateo County June 6, the County Committee on School District Organization last week established the maximum tax rates which will prevail in the three unified districts if the election is successful.

The decision to proceed was made after Dr. Myron Schussman, assistant county superintendent of schools, reported that Sen. Arlen Gregorio informed him that Gregorio's bill to exempt San Mateo County from the unification election requirement has about a 50-50 chance of passage.

Although the county committee is not in favor of the unification proposals, it is required by law to call this year's election. If the proposals are defeated this year, as they were in 1966, then any future unification proposals will be optional on the part of the committee.

The proposals to be submitted June 6 would, if approved by voters, make unified districts of the Jefferson Union High School District area, the San Mateo Union High School District area and the Sequoia Union High School District area.

Maximum tax rates for the unified districts established by the committee, and which will appear on the ballot, are:

Jefferson, $4.47 per $100 of assessed valuation; San Mateo, $4.76 per $100 of assessed valuation, and Sequoia, $4.48 per $100 of assessed valuation.

The figures were established by averaging the high school and elementary district tax rates in the three areas. Schussman said that any override taxes for special purposes would be on top of the established rates.

Nicad-Cell Hearing Aid

Cost of Batteries Going Higher and Higher
No End in Sight!

(Peninsula Special). An all new, hearing aid that eliminates normal changing of batteries has been developed and is saving money for hearing aid users throughout the country. The hearing aid is moderate in price, yet superior to other much higher priced instruments. The nickel cadmium power cell eliminates changing batteries and does away with background noise and hum in the amplifier. The automatic suppression circuit controls those too loud noises, helps your hearing and understanding in church, noisy restaurants, in traffic and crowds. Also unscrambles group conversations. A Proposal for The Cow Palace

Daly City Cow Palace officials have proposed to Mayor Joseph Alioto that for $500,000 the complex of buildings in the North County be converted to a San Francisco convention facility.

The proposal by George W. Keyston Jr., Cow Palace president, was meant to "help San Francisco realize the immediate potential of convention and visitor business."

Keyston made the proposal in a letter to San Francisco Mayor Alioto, whose staff reportedly is studying it.

According to Keyston an investment of $500,000 would allow the Cow Palace, including its exhibit space, to serve as an interim convention center while San Francisco waits construction of its Yerba Buena Center project.

Keyston said the North County facility has enough seats, exhibit space, parking and eating facilities to accommodate any convention. The only drawback, he said, is necessary meeting rooms.

The problem of travel distance to downtown San Francisco could be solved by special convention buses, according to Keyston.

Allowance Won't Be Collected

Three South San Francisco city councilmen who voted themselves an automobile expense allowance have agreed not to collect the funds pending outcome of a court suit challenging the action.

City Atty. John Noonan informed Presiding Superior Court Judge Melvin E. Cohn Wednesday that Councilmen Frank Bertucelli, Patrick Ahern and William Borba will stipulate they won't accept the $40 a month car availability allowance they approved last month.

On that basis, Judge Cohn denied an injunction sought in a taxpayer's suit seeking to enjoin the trio from taking the expense allowance.

The court has taken under submission determination of the legality of the action of the councilmen in establishing the expense allowance.

166 Join Governale in Attack On S.F. Airport Taxi Service

San Bruno Councilman Tony Governale Wednesday made public a petition signed by some 166 persons complaining about Yellow Cab Company service at International Airport.

The petition was presented during a press conference held at City Hall to back up charges Governale had made during a North County Council of Cities meeting concerning airport taxi service.

The councilman, chairman of a subcommittee of the NCCC assigned to study the taxi matter, said he had invited Yellow Cab Company attorney William L. Ferdon to the meeting.

Ferdon in a letter dated March 6, 1972, declined the invitation noting "I would not attend your press meeting on March 8, even if my calendar permitted."

The attorney said he felt the issue appeared to already have been tried in the press and he informed Governale "I regret the paranoic stance that seems to have been taken by yourself and fellow officials."

He was referring to last week's meeting of the NCCC in which Governale received support for a strongly-worded letter to Ferdon pointing up what the councilman felt were threats of lawsuits and noting signed documents relating to alleged poor service by Yellow Cab would be produced publicly today.

Asked if the taxi issue had in fact turned into a personality clash between himself and attorney Ferdon, Governale said "absolutely not."

Regarding charges lodged by Ferdon that Governale was trying the case in the news media, the councilman said "all the letters we have received from Ferdon had been sent to the press — by Ferdon."

The newly created "short haul" taxi stands being manned by Yellow Cab Company "are a big improvement" Governale said.

Legislation to regulate taxi operations at International Airport may be necessary and a "watchdog" committee to oversee cab operations may also be needed, Governale said.

"It is not now, nor has it ever been the intent of myself . . . to embarass, condemn or seek disciplinary action against the Yellow Cab Company of San Francisco or the drivers of the Chauffers' Union, Local 265," Governale read from a prepared statement.

Coast Couple Saves Co-ed From Assault

A 24-year-old coed from the College of San Mateo was saved by a couple from Pacifica as a would-be assailant was pulling her into the bushes off the lonely Sawyer Camp road west of Hillsborough March 7.

The young woman reported to deputies she had ridden her bicycle up the dirt road about 3.1 miles from the south entrance at the end of Crystal Springs Road. She said she had parked near a laurel tree marker to study, and was on her way back when the man, described as "extremely confident," approached her.

The man, described as about 25 to 27-years-old and 5-feet 7-inches, tall kept touching what appeared to be a knife in his belt sheath, she said. Then he grabbed her by the arm and led her up an embankment off the road.

"Don't hurt me. Don't hurt me," the woman appealed.

She said her assailant led her back to her bike, but hid it in some bushes.

The woman reported as the man dragged her into the bushes she heard a car approach and yelled for help. She was taken to the Burlingame police station by a couple from Pacifica. They reported they did not see anyone.

Millbrae Flood Insurance Perhaps Valueless, Council Told

Millbrae citizens have apparently been sold federally sponsored "flood" insurance that has no value, Millbrae City Councilmen were told March 7.

Several citizens bought the insurance last year when the city declared itself a "disaster area" following winter rains which worsened the long-slipping condition of some hillside homesites.

When they bought the insurance, the citizens were assured that the disaster policies would repay them for any loss of their homes, suffered after signing up, even if the hillside was already slipping.

State officials who are coordinating the federally sponsored program through which private companies are offeriung the insurnace, assured Millbrae residents they would be protected against loss.

Last night, Council members were told the state's official position remains the same, but that a federal administrator holds an opposite opinion.

Accordingly, local claims have been rejected on the basis of relating to "an ongoing occurrence" that began before the disaster insurance policies were purchased.

Two people even reported that they had received a "claim denied" answer after writing for a determination of existing conditions.

The state expert advised homeowners to continue their insurance, and to pay premiums on policies which are to expire April 2.

One woman complained that she had received a policy renewal notice even though her house has slipped down the hill months ago, and she has nothing else to lose. She has received no answer to her claim for damage, she said.

Councilmen were commended for taking the step they did last year, in declaring the city a disaster area and thereby making the citizens eligible for the federally sponsored insurance, even if the insurance is not proving much good.

The Council agreed to contact San Mateo County Congressman Paul N. McCloskey, to see if he can apply pressure for a changed ruling within the federal structure.

The Council also authorized an agreement to exchange property with Green Hills Country Club;

Adopted a law prohibiting parking along the easterly side of El Camino Real dividing strips;

Named the Mills High School band as ambassadors of the city when they leave March 18 on a trip to Chile:

Told Louis Klein they have no interest in purchasing his property at 1328 Vista Grande Avenue, and later advised him they cannot have the City Engineer check his plans for an airport noise sound noise suppression system.

Jail Term for Inmates

Two county jail honor camp inmates who took an unauthorized leave from the facility last month have been sentenced to 30 days additional in county jail.

The sentence was imposed against Cyrus Childers, 20, of Pacifica, and Eldean Kitt, 20, of Mountain View, when they appeared before Judge Roy W. Seagraves Monday in Southern District Municipal Court and pleaded guilty to misdemeanor escape.

Two young Redwood City women who allegedly picked up the inmates and a third man in a car near the honor camp February 21 and drove them to Redwood City, also appeared in Municipal Court Monday.

Margaret (Peggy) Bolich and Katherine Keegan, both 20, entered pleas of not guilty to charges of conspiracy and aiding an escape when they appeared before Judge Frank J. Comaich. A preliminary hearing was scheduled by the judge for March 22 at 10 a.m.

$4,374,619 Millbrae Budget

The Millbrae School District Board of Education viewed a preliminary budget of $4,374,619 at their meeting last week. At the session, held at Meadows School trustees were told by Supt. Edward J. Muehlhausen that this represents a $52,343 increase over the current budget, due to normal salary increases.

Theodore Dimitre, board clerk, presided in the absence of Remo Boragno. Also present were Trustees Mrs. Doris Brown and Dr. Larry Foster.

Dr. Rufus Clapp spoke briefly on the Stull Bill, now part of the Education Code, which requires that the district establish a uniform system of evaluation and assessment of the performance of certificated personnel. A committee has been formed for this teacher evaluation, consisting of the nine principals in the district, Leo Tarantino, president of the Millbrae Education Assn., Howard Lucas, vice president, and both Dr. Muehlhausen and Dr. Clapp. The committee is currently holding meeting to explore the implementation of the bill.

It was decided that 20 wood framed sectional windows at Taylor School be replaced with new aluminum framed windows, at a cost not to exceed $3,600.

The board also approved the employment as substitute teachers of Miss Susan Soltis; Mrs. Judith Hostetter and Tivador Boda. Also approved was the employment of Mrs. Mildred Smith, who will work as a substitute librarian in the school district.

Lengthy discussion was held as to the best dental plan for the district staff, both certificated and classified, with no decision reached.

At their next meeting, to be held March 20 at the District Conference Center, the board will study the preliminary budget and the financial statement of the district, in addition to routine items.

D.C. Clinic Gains Funds

Our Lady of Guadalupe Health Center in Daly City received a money transfusion.

The County Board of Supervisors, on the recommendation of Health and Welfare Director Dr. George Pickett, appropriated $11,800 to keep the free health clinic at 6705 Mission Street going for the nearly four months remaining in the fiscal year.

What will happen after June 30 was not known but hope was expressed that the center will receive financial help from foundations or some commitment on its applications for $350,000 in federal funding.

Dr. Pickett indicated that it is good business for the county to keep the clinic going in the meantime. Noting that much of the work done there is voluntary and wages that are paid are generally low, he told the board:

"It would be hard to duplicate for less than double the money."

Coast Chief Starts Work

John Piotti has begun duties as the interim director of the Pacifica Youth Service Bureau.

Piotti, 43, north county supervisor for the probation department, will serve until June 30, or until a replacement is found for Ralph Rutley, who recently resigned under pressure from the board of directors.

Federal funding for the project expires June 30, although Rutley said he was working on a new grant.

Piotti has been with the county probation department since 1958.

Knights of Columbus Holds Degree Night Here

Grand Knight Tom Curr reports that Marian Council 3773, Knights of Columbus recently held a Degree Night at the Broadmoor Community Center, Colma.

An Admission Degree and a Formation Degree were held as the second phase of the extensive membership campaign Marian Council has undertaken in the Colma, Daly City, an Pacifica areas. The membership campaign is being held to celebrate the 90th birthday of the founding of the Knights of Columbus by Reverend Michael J. McGivney. All Catholic men over 18 years old are invited to join.

They may do so by contacting Tom Curr, 262 Price Street, Apt. 4, Daly City, 756-0375 or Herb Bardford, 209 Edgewood Drive, Pacifica, 993-5318.

The following new members received their Admission Degree into the Order: Robert E. Lopez, 619 MacArthur Dr., Daly City; LaVerne C. Morgensen, 55 Eastridge Circle, Pacifica; Florian J. Shasky, 16 Elm Street, Pacifica; Raymond A. Thurman, 1648 Sweetwood Dr., Daly City.

These new members also received their Formation Degree on the same evening with the following members: George Clevering, Pacifica; Richard Rusting, Daly City; Anthony Lovre, Daly City; Richard Chaffer, San Mateo; Salvador Vasquez, San Francisco; Rev. Arthur W. Skoyles, assistant pastor of St. Catherine of Siena Catholic Church, Burlingame.

Also at this meeting special basketball awards were presented to Tom Curr and Rob Simon for their work with the Marian Council Basketball Team.

In attendance at the Degree Night were Jim Haug, district deputy; John Renn, assistant regional co-ordinator, and Tom Yant, Supreme Insurance Representative.

Ursuline Guild Luncheon Slated

The Ursuline Guild of St. John's High School will hold the eighth in a series of "Luncheon and Games" on March 14 in the school auditorium, 4056 Mission Street at 11:30 a.m.

Nell Norton

Good morning, good cooks.

St. Patrick's Day is Friday, March 17. That's the day we all start thinking Irish. Green is the color to wear and I'd like to suggest some ideas for adding a delicious touch of green to your menu too.

GRASSHOPPER PIE

24 large marshmallows
2-thirds cup half and half milk
½ pint whipping cream, whipped
2 ounces White Creme de Cocoa
2 ounces Green Creme de Menthe

CRUST

1½ cups chocolate cookie crumbs
4 tablespoons butter, melted

Make the pie shell first Combine the one and one-half cups cookie crumbs with the four tablespoons butter and press into a 9-inch pie pan. Chill for one hour.

Combine the twenty-four marshmallows with the two-thirds cup half and half in top of double boiler. Cook over hot water, stirring occasionally, until marshmallows melt. Cool.

Whip the half pint cream. blend the two ounces each Creme de Cocoa and Creme de Menthe into the cooled marshmallow mixture. Fold in the whipped cream. Pour into chilled pie shell and freeze. Thaw slightly to serve.

FOR ANOTHER SHADE and flavor of green, this lime pie makes a tasty dessert.

LIME COCONUT PIE

1 pkg. lime flavored gelatin
1½ cups hot water
2 teaspoons lemon juice
Dash salt
½ pint whipping cream, whipped
1 cup coconut

CRUST

1¼ cups fine graham cracker crumbs
2 tablespoons sugar
4 tablespoons melted butter

Pie Shell. Combine the one and one fourth cups graham cracker crumbs, two tablespoons sugar and four tablespoons melted butter. Press into 9-inch pie pan. Chill one hour.

Dissolve the package lime gelatin in the one and one-half cups hot water. Add the two teaspoons lemon juice and dash salt. Chill until very thick. then beat with a rotary beater or electric mixer until mixture is fluffy and thick — about double in volume.

Fold about one half the whipped cream and one-half cup coconut into whipped gelatin. Pour into chilled crust. Top with remaining whipped cream and sprinkle with half cup coconut. Chill until firm.

THIS LAST DESSERT isn't green, but it's called Irish Apple Cake and that certainly makes it appropriate for St. Pat's Day.

IRISH APPLE CAKE

3 cups flour
¾ cups sugar
½ teaspoon salt
3 egg yolks
1 cup butter
Grated rind of one lemon
1 can applesauce, No. 303 size
½ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon cloves

Heat oven to 350-degrees. Grease a 9x9-inch baking pan.

Sift and measure the three cups flour. Into a large mixing bowl sift the flour, three-fourths cup sugar and half teaspoon salt. Add the one cup butter, three egg yolks and grated lemon rind. Work together well. Divide into two parts. Press half the mixture into bottom of greased pan. Mix the one can apple sauce, half teaspoon cinnamon and fourth teaspoon cloves together and spread over flour mixture. Crumble rest of mixture over top. Bake 50 minutes in 350-degree oven.

Serve warm with a topping of whipped cream or ice cream.

These students at the Franklin Roosevelt School are discussing a new book, "The Trip Trap," which the author will present at the March 16 FDR P-TA meeting. It is a children's book concerning the abuse of drugs, written by Yvonne McCall. She will be on a panel of counselors, teachers and a former drug addict. Left to right above are Patricia Makon, Stephanie Rourke, Dennis Sawyet, Debra Burros, all sixth grade students. Standing are Lynda Woelflen, Iarl Simms Jr. and Tracy Takahashi.

Fashion Show Calendared

Fashion Fantasies is the title members of the Pacifica Federated Women's Club have chosen for their annual style show which will be presented Friday at the Rodeway Inn in South San Francisco.

The group's scholarship fund, which aids high school graduates in the community, will receive monies collected from the event.

The 7:30 p.m. dinner will be preceded by no-host cocktails at 6:30 p.m. Barbara Bugby may be contacted for tickets.

Modeling clothes from the Mildred Bartel Shop at the Tanforan Shopping Center will be the following club members: Roberta Lunday, Linda Tyler, Linda Obujen, Yolande Valdez and Joan Glover.

Guest models from other organizations will include Shirley Ribera, Mizpah; Annette Hutchinson, Children's Home Society; Nancy Raymond, Police Wives; Avis Bailey, 50 Plus; and Joann McLellan, Lionesses. Four stewardesses from United Air Lines will also be on the runway under the supervision of Maxine Delaney, models chairman.

Two pots of gold totaling $150 will be awarded during the evening.

Volunteers Needed in Daly City

Members of the community interested in volunteer work are urged to contact Westmoor High School, Principal Clay Kollman (756-3434) in Daly City.

This program was initiated this year and it is hoped to be of mutual service to both the school and community.

No credential is needed. The program is geared to utilize volunteers where they can be of most value. This appeal for volunteers goes not only to parents, but retired community members, housewives, and college students as well. Work is also available for volunteers to do at home.

Family Forum

Sisterhood Card Party

The Sisterhood of Congregation Beth-Israel Judea will hold a brunch and card party on Tuesday, March 14 at 10:30 a.m. in Fellowship Hall, 625 Brotherhood Way.

Proceeds will benefit the Hebrew Union College and the Jewish Theological Seminary.

There will be cards, mah jongg, pan, etc. and a choice of a Torah Fund card or Uniongram, plus many Door Prizes. For reservations call Mrs. Z. Kaplan, 992-1689, Mrs. J. Stevenson, 992-0924, Mrs. J. Gayne, 564-5839.

NAACP Candidate Night

"Candidates' Night" for those people seeking office in the April 11, election has been scheduled for March 16, at 7 p.m.

The forum, sponsored by the Daly City Chapter NAACP, will be held in the Lincoln Park Club house, Brunswick and Acton Streets, Daly City.

Review Slated on 'New American Revolution'

The Rev. Timothy S. Rudolph, rector of St. Martin's Episcopal Church in Daly City, will review "Without Marx or Jesus: The New American Revolution Has Begun" by Jean-Francois Revel, for The Friends of the Daly City Library, March 23, 10 a.m. in the Coral Room of the Westlake Branch Library, 275 Southgate Ave.

A native of suburban Chicago, Fr. Rudolph was graduated from the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor, receiving a degree in English and Philosophy. After serving four years with the United States Army in intelligence, he entered the Episcopal Theolgoical Seminary in Berkeley, Church Divinity School of the Pacific, and holds a Master's Degree in Divinity.

Prior to accepting the call to full-time ministry at St. Martin's, he was engaged in the insurance and investment business. He is married and has six children. A member of the Ministerial Association, he also serves as chairman of the Service Extension Unit of the Salvation Army, and is vice president of the Episcopal Deanery of San Mateo County.

Author Jean-Francois Revel is a French political journalist and writes for the Paris weekly "L'Express." His book enjoyed wide readership on the continent of Europe; and when Doubleday published the English translation last fall, it became one of the "top ten" almost immediately. Revel's book is one Frenchman's analysis of the America political scene. He claims that the revolution has already begun in America: that it is one of innovation, not of violence; and he predicts that it will become global.

Fr. Rudolph's vocation, implemented by his political science avocation, well equips him to present the subject matter of this controversial book with discerning perception.

The coffee social previous to the review will be hosted by Mmes. Al Teglia and Thomas Donohue. Following the program, Fr. Rudolph will be the guest of The Friends of the Daly City Library at a no-host luncheon arranged by Mrs. F. Lincoln Walter, book review chairman.

For the past 11 years, The Friends have sponsored this series of book revise as part of their service project for the Library. Mrs. Vinton Stratton, president, invites the public at large to attend. There is no charge for the book review.

Tree Planted

A tree was planted at Abraham Lincoln Elementary School in honor of Joe Davis, school custodian.

Davis recently retired after 14 years with the Jefferson Elementary School District. The tree was planted as a token of the appreciation that the community has for Davis.

Daly City, Pacifica Camp Fire Girls To Hold Expo Rama This Saturday

District VI Camp Fire Girls from Daly City and Pacifica will join in celebrating Camp Fire Girls' birthday week by participating in an Expo Rama to be held on the Serramonte mall on Saturday March 18, 10 to 5.

All age groups of Camp Fire Girls will be participating from Blue Birds to Camp Fire girls to Discovery Club and the high school Horizon club. Booths will be manned by groups displaying things they've made and actively making new craft items.

A group organization booth will be set up with materials available that tell the story of the Camp Fire program which is open to girls from the first through the twelfth grades. Anyone wishing to sign up as a leader or as a member of a group will be encouraged to do so here. An information booth will also be available where adult membership and sustaining membership information will be available. Copies of the Camp Fire sponsored magazine "Today's Girl" will be available and subscriptions accepted.

Theme for the expo-rama will be "Do Something — Do Something With Camp Fire Girls." All girls participating will be wearing a button with this theme on it.

First grade Blue Birds in Mrs. Wayne Lile's and Mrs. Marchmont Denzer's groups will be making crafts with art foam.

Blue Birds in Mrs. James Connelly and Mrs. Alexander Townsends groups will be making tissue paper flowers on a table they will have decorated in a Spring theme. These groups are also in the first grade.

Girls from the first grade at F.D.R. will be decorating Leggs Eggs in appropriate themes for Easter. Leader of these girls in Mrs. Richard Pollastrini.

Second graders under the leadership of Mrs. Fred Schnaars will be demonstrating several crafts they've made over the years.

Another second grade group whose leader is Mrs. William Adams will be making collages and displaying crafts they've made.

Mrs. Norman Pullman has a mixed group of first and second graders and they will display Indian villages and costumes. They will demonstrate ecology by making crafts of waste materials. They will also sing songs.

Third grade Blue Birds from Mrs. Richard McKays' group will display items they have made during the year.

The Flying Blue Birds, a third grade group with Mrs. Charles Goan as leader will display crafts and will embroider with yarn on burlap. They will make purses from the embroidered burlap.

Mrs. Jay Danzig's fourth grade group will be doing a service project which they will deliver to a convalescent hospital. They will put grass and flowers on wooden plaques and paint them.

Mrs. Robert Brien's fourth grade group will be displaying a craft.

Mrs. Robert Perruquets combination fourth and fifth grade Camp Fire group will put on a pupper show every hour and will also be working on crafts in their booth.

The fifth grade group of Mrs. John Curran will have a sewing machine set up and the girls will be making bean bags.

Symbols and their uses will be demonstrated by the fifth grade girls in Mrs. Joseph Acquistipace's group. The girls will be using symbols to decorate sit-upons also.

An interesting display of uniforms of all the age groups will be shown by Mrs. William Schoepp's fifth grade girls.

The Discovery Club under the leadership of Mrs. Alzert Fluehr will be doing bead work and also knitting and crocheting.

The Horizon Club high school group will be going from booth to booth in the afternoon hours and joining with the girls in singing Camp Fire songs for the enjoyment of the public.

Also on display will be group banners the girls have made and scrapbooks of their activities.

Parents Without Partners Slate Talk on VD

"V.D. — What's It All About?" will be the pertinent topic of interest at a special program sponsored by the Burlingame-San Mateo Chapter 54 of Parents Without Partners, Inc., Tuesday, March 21, at 8 p.m. at Parkside School, 1685 Eisenhower St., San Mateo.

Jim Olsen of the San Mateo Public Health Clinic will be guest speaker.

The program is open to the public. Teenagers are issued a special invitation to attend.

Lovanne Heath

Today's The Day for the Mary's Help Hospital Guild's Day at the races and if you are one of the lucky ladies with a ticket to this fun-filled outing you had best race down to the Westlake shopping center to board your bus!

Mrs. Virginia Poblitz has been chairing the committee which arranged for this activity and reportedly she has been extremely pleased by the enthusiasm with which members of the guild and their friends have purchased tickets.

IT WILL BE "LADIES' NIGHT" when the members of the Daly City-Colma Democratic Club convene at 8 p.m. in the multi-use room of M. Pauline Brown school.

According to Mrs. Sam Krips, president, the information in last week's column was somewhat muddled. (My apologies to all!) Candidates Ruth Galindo, Jim Edwards and Maury Tolson spoke at a previous gathering of the club and tonight's meeting will feature three ladies whose names will be appearing on the local ballots in June.

Sue McAllister, the eighteen-year-old candidate, will be speaking along with Mrs. Marie Taylor and Mrs. Cathy Smallwood. The appearance of Miss McAllister should be of special interest to the new voters in the 18 to 21-year bracket and Mrs. Krips expressed hope that many of the younger voters will be on hand to hear their candidate's platform.

Following the meeting refreshments will be served by Mrs. Margaret Becker, hospitality chairman, and the members of her committee.

THE COLLEENS of St. Andrew's Congregation will do a bit o' Irish Step Dancing at the "Little Bit of Blarney" St. Patrick's Day observance:

Mrs. Albert Theis, publicity chairman for the party, reports that Mrs. Bobbie Cunningham has been working with several ladies from the parish to ready a lively program of Irish dancing. Among those who will be performing will be Mrs. Sandy Bugler, Mrs. Joan Sabbatani, Mrs. Maureen Scott, Mrs. Bernice Greenblatt and her daughter Debbie, Mrs. Sheryn Smith, Mrs. Doreen Carberry, Mrs. Grace Pitcher, Mrs. Rochelle Sullivan, Mrs. Barbara Earle and Mrs. Barbara DeBarros. Several surprises will be brewing in the leprechaun's pot that evening so members of the committee are hoping for a large and festive crowd to fill St. Andrew's Center in the St. Francis Square shopping center.

Mrs. Pat Callagy will provide tickets for those making a $1.50 contribution to the parish. She may be reached by calling 922-2352.

The program will begin at 8 p.m. on March 17. Plans call for a community sing to conclude the program of entertainment.

MRS. ROBERTA LUNDY, Mrs. Linda Taylor, Mrs. Linda Obujen, Mrs. Yolande Valdez and Mrs. Joann Glover, all members of the Pacifica Federated Women's Club, will be models for Friday night's Fashion Fantasies at the Rodeway Inn in South San Francisco.

Mrs. Alice McPeak, the temporary publicity chairman for the club, reports that guest models will be Mrs. Annette Hutchinson from the Children's Home Society; Mrs. Shirley Ribera, Mizpah; Mrs. Nancy Raymond, Police Wives; Mrs. Avis Bailey, Fifty-Plus Club; Mrs. Joann McLellan, the Lionesses. Model chairman is Mrs. Maxine Delaney.

Cocktails will be served at a No-Host Cocktail party at 6:30 p.m. with dinner scheduled to be served at 7:30 p.m. Mrs. McPeak stated.

Mrs. Barbara Bugby is the reservations chairman and she may be reached at 359-1352. Tickets are being sold for $6 per person.

Mildred Bartel of Tanforan Shopping Center will provide the fashions and Donna Starr will do the commentary. Two Pots O' Gold, valued at $100 and $50 will be awarded to two lucky guests during the evening.

The fashion show is staged to benefit the scholarship fund which is awarded each year to graduates from Oceana and Terranova whose grades are in the C category. Those who would like to contribute to the scholarship fund, but cannot attend the dinner, may purchase investment tickets from Pacifica Federated Women's Club members or may call Mrs. Sis Grumm at 359-1746.

FRIDAY EVENING the Westlake Catholic Men and Women's Clubs will hold their St. Patrick's Day "A Night in Erin" dance.

According to Mrs. Donald Gianfermo, there will be entertainment starting at 9, followed by door prizes, surprises and dancing for all to the melodies of the Rich Landi Trio.

Some fancy Irish Step dancing will be done by a group of girls from Our Lady of Mercy and at midnight a lovely buffet will be provided to the partygoers.

PROVIDING A FINE opportunity for mothers and daughters to enjoy an evening out together is the Abraham Lincoln P-TA's Mother-Daughter Sew and Show.

The program of handcrafted and crocheted clothing will be presented in the Multi-use room of the school on Tuesday, March 21 at 7:30 p.m.

According to Mrs. William Holland, the publicity chairman, the evening is being arranged by Mrs. James Bovis and music will be provided by the talented young Scotty Plummer, a banjo player of considerable skill and experience.

THE EXCHANGE CLUB of Daly City will sponsor "A Search for Talent Contest" in the main auditorium of Skyline College on Friday evening, March 24 at 7:30 p.m.

Patti Parks McClain will be the mistress of ceremonies and the talent coordinator. Judges will be Dave Stone of KYA; Dolly Schumacher of the Schumacher school of the Danse and Joe Higgins, the stage manager of the San Francisco Press Club.

Hopeful contestants between the ages of six and 18 may obtain entry blanks through their schools or in the Serramonte Music Center in the Serramonte Shopping Center or in Bronstein's Music store in South San Francisco.

According to Mrs. McClain, winners will be selected from among the primary group, 6 to 9, the juniors, 10 to 14, or the seniors 15 to 18. All winners will receive trophies and an opportunity to compete in the area contest in May.

Tickets, costing $1, will be sold to contestgoers and the proceeds will be used to help the club with its project of presenting a local high school with a Freedom Shrine display of American patriotic and historic documents.

A NIGHT AT MIYAKO will be the theme for the Holy Angels Fashion Show and dinner which will be held on April 22, according to Mrs. George Sigigie, publicity chairman for the guild.

The event will be in the Miyako Hotel in the Japanese Cultural and Trade Center and so space will be limited and ticket seekers are urged to watch for the opening date of reservations so they can be among the lucky ones to attend. Mrs. John Moran is the chairman of the event.

Slightly less elegant, but equally as much fun, is the house tour being planned by the ladies of the guild for March 25.

Mrs. James Pretti will chair the committee arranging the afternoon's activities. Homes in Pacifica, St. Francis Heights and the original parts of Daly City will be opened for this benefit. Refreshments will be served, following the tour, in the home of Mrs. Ronald Chiappari, Mrs. Gianfermo said.

Terra Nova Topics

(Editor's note: This week Rockie Montenegro is on outdoor elucation. Her guest columnist is Denise Barr, Editor of the Terra Nova News Bureau.)

Spirit is flowing from Terra Nova students as the annual Spirit Week has startel. The special week will be different this year than in the past, in that the week will be only three days long and there will be a Field Day on Thursday after school. The shortening of Spirit Week has started. The that was taken the beginning of the year, where the shortened week was favored.

Today marks the start of the week. The theme is Dress-up Day. Each class is to dress up in clothes from their assigned categories. They are: Freshmen-Natives, Sophomores-Frontier Days, Juniors-Senior Citizens, and Seniors-1950's.

Tomorrow is titled Crazy Day. Students use their imaginations in designing their own creations from their respective areas: Freshmen-Crazy Ties, Sophomores-Crazy Cut-offs, Juniors-Crazy Shoes, anl Seniors-Crazy Paper Hats. There will be a rally held Thursday. The sophomores and freshmen will present their class skits. Something new to the Spirit Week will be basketball games between girls from each class, as well as the boys. First the freshmen girls will challenge the junior girls. Next, the sophomore girls' team will play the senior girls. Following the girls' games, the freshmen boys vs. the junior boys and the sophomore boys will play the senior boys. Each game will be five minutes long and the winners from each girls' game, as well as the winners from each boys' game will play off Friday. Also at this rally will be a pie-eating contest between four people, one appointed representative from each class.

After school tomorrow will be Field Day. This will be held in the football field and will include the following events: Egg Toss, Hop in the Sack Race, Wheelbarrow Race, Tricycle Race, Three-Legged Race, and a Tug of War over a muddy hole.

Friday winds up Spirit Week and is titled Color Day. Students are urged to dress up in their assigned class colors. Freshmen-Red, Sophomores-Gold, Juniors-Black, and Seniors-White. On this day students tend to get really involved and not only wear their class colors but paint their faces and arms in their class colors. At the rally that day, the juniors and seniors will present their class skits. The basketball playoffs will be held, along with a Root Beer Chugging Contest. The Root Beer Chugging will be done among four contentants, one from each class.

The Spirit Week Dance will be held Friday night at Terra Nova. The winning class of Spirit Week will be announced at the dance. The Spirit Week Dance will be sponsored by the student body. Any money earned over expenses will be divided up between classes.

The class of '72 is the class to beat. Two years running, they have been the winners of the Spirit Jug. The teachers judge classes as to class participation and points are awarded, highest amount to most spirited class, and so on down. Classes are also awarded points as winners of the basketball playoffs, Pie-Eating Contest, Root Beer Chugging Contest, class skits and winning events at Field Day. Everyone at Terra Nova is urged to participate!

LWV to Hold Finance Drive

Wednesday, March 22, is the opening day of the 1972 Finance Drive for the League of Women Voters of North San Mateo County. This is the time of the year this organization asks the community for its financial support.

The League is known mostly for its work in the field of voter service: — holding candidates nights or assisting other organizations with such events and conducting drives for registration of voters. "Pros and Cons," an analysis of measures on the ballot, and "Election Extras" are distributed free of charge to schools, libraries and the general public. Facts sheets on such subjects as housing, education, air quality, China and foreign policy are sold at cost.

This being a presidential election year there are many extra demands upon the League's services and resources. Each member volunteers her time and talents as well as pays dues.

Advice and guidance in the conduct of the League's financial matters and community relations are given by a Men's Advisory Board. Karney Barberian, contractor, of San Bruno; Ralhh Barkey, director of Advertising, Pacifica Tribune; Peter J. Markovich, general manager, Daly City Chamber of Commerce; and James Wyatt, dean of students, Skyline College are on this board. T. Kenneth Ulyett of the United California Bank is the chairman.

Contributions to the League of Women Voters may be mailed to Mrs. Lois Young, President, 503 Park Pacifica Avenue, Pacifica 94044. The League does not accept contributions from either elected officials or from candidates.

Information about the League's program may be obtained by writing the organization or calling 355-4408 or 359-3462.

'Non-Victim Crimes' to Be Lecture Topic

"Non-Victim Crime" is the subject of a series of lectures and discussions to be held Mondays at 7 p.m. at Westmoor Adult High School in Daly City, starting March 20.

Robert Wanderer, who teaches classes in semantics and communication, will semantically analyze such "crimes without victims" as marijuana, drugs, gambling, abortion and obscenity. Class discussion will follow.

The series opens March 20 with the question of how we define "crime." After Easter vacation, it resumes April 3 with marijuana use and laws. Later lecture-discussions will consider each of the other major "non-victim crimes."

Democratic Club Hears School Candidates Talk

It was candidates night at last month's meeting of the Daly City-Colma Democratic Club.

The meeting was held at the M. Pauline Brown School in Daly City. Attending were Jefferson Elementary School Board candidates Ruth Galindo and Jim Edwards.

Both school board candidates discussed their views on such controversial issues as tri-county busing, bilingual and bi-cultural programs and the present School Board Administration of Supt. Frank Greenwood.

The meeting was also attended by Beverly Forrester, currently on the Jefferson Elementary School Board.

In addition, Maury Tolson, candidate for treasurer of Daly City, attended the meeting. Tolson spoke of his background in the area of finance and of his plans if elected treasurer.

SERRAMONTE

IRISH DANCING will be featured at Our Lady of Mercy's parish hall, 7 Elmwood Dr., Daly City, on March 17. Polishing up their routine are (l to r) Miss Ann Cooney, Miss Terri Cooney and Miss Maura O'Connor. Fun begins at 9 p.m. There will be dancing to the music of the Rich Landi Trio and a midnight buffet. Tickets are $5 a couple. For reservations call Mrs. Bernard Schroer at 992-1474. "A Night in Erin" is the second annual St. Patrick's Day Dance held by the Westlake Catholic Men's and Women's Clubs.

Mothers of Twins Slate Rummage Sale

Many double bargains at the Coastside Mothers of Twins Club Rummage Sale to be held at St. Dunstan's Hall, 600 El Camino Real, Millbrae on March 17, 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., and Saturday, March 18, 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

The proceeds will help send delegates to the 12th annual convention of the National Organization of Mothers of Twins at Boston, the last week in July.

Coastside MOT will meet on March 15, at 8 p.m. in the San Bruno Public Library Conference Room. All mothers with a multiple birth are invited to attend.

The program will include a mini-sale and a discussion of plans being made for the first convention of the Northern California Association of Mothers of Twins Clubs, to be hosted by the local group and held on May 13, at the Holiday Inn in Belmont.

During the meeting members will sew pincushions that will be used as table favors at the convention.

Student Wins Speech Prize

Wetmoor High School student Peter Seagrave took fifth place overall in the southern California Speech at the El Camino Junior College International competition.

It took two days of trials and finals for the contest, and Pete received a trophy for his qualifying speech.

The Jeff Scene

By SUE MCALLISTER

Football fans at Jeff will get a treat on March 23 when an alumni of the school who just so happens to be head coach of the Oakland Raiders pays a visit to his alma mater. John Madden, an early 50's graduate, will be talking to students interested in pursuing an athletic career in the future.

Mrs. Lueras, a business department teacher, has set up a model office in her transcription class. The purpose of the project is to acquaint students to procedures of an office that functions well. Mrs. Lueras has her room set up as an office would be with different departments for every phase of office work.

March 8 was International Woman's Day and 20 Jefferson female students spent at least part of their day asserting a bit of their independence. These students are part of an experimental class in Auto Mechanics for Girls. Mrs. Insel has volunteered to instruct the girls in the basics of keeping a car in good running condition such as changing a tire, changing the oil, and hints on what to do if the car isn't running quite right, and it's a simple problem.

If you happen to see a person walking along wearing a button proclaiming, "I did it for Marty," assume he is one of the many adults and students that put on walking shoes and hiked 20 miles last December for the March of Dimes "March-A.-Thon" to fight Birth Defects.

The path followed El Camino Real from Tanforan Center to Sequoia High School and if this sounds interesting, the March of Dimes is giving everyone a chance to gain a different perspective of San Francisco while participating in a worthwhile activity.

"The "walk" will originate from San Francisco City College and return to there after completing its course. If you would like to join myself and other concerned individuals, please contact the San Francisco March of Dimes Chapter for information.

ORT Celebration Set Wednesday At Millbrae Site

New and prospective members of the Central Chapter of Women's American ORT will be honored at the chapter's ORT Day celebration on Wednesday at the Millbrae home of Mrs. Frank Gold.

Highlighting the 8 p.m. event will be the showing of two films, "The Mellah" and "The Making of a Man." Pastry and Irish coffee will be served by the hostess, the president of the Peninsula ORT Region, who will also address the group.

Mrs. Jerry Levine may be contacted for additional information about the group which provides voluntary vocational training for the Jewish in 22 countries.

Monday Morning Quarterbacks

Never has our nation of Monday morning quarterbacks enjoyed an event as much as the China visit and the communique. The profound and profane have blessed and damned the visit — largely along lines of preconceived prejudice.

Some see the rosy glow of a new day of trade, cooperation, and disarmament. Others sniff a sellout and a new Yalta. One view has it that the communique abandoned Taiwan, another that there must be more — some secret goodie not yet disclosed, and still another that we should have made concessions.

Part of the problem of such judgments is that they fail to view the entire game. It is much as though the American people judged the Pro Bowl after watching the kick off. Thoughtful and detailed examination of the way the whistle blew and the way the ball floated and tumbled will tell little of the game.

For the week truly may have changed the world — but in ways that can't be tested or understood by examining each phrase and word of the communique or of toasts given and received.

To this observer it seems the China visit accomplished several purposes.

(1) We are now on realistic speaking terms with China.

(2) We have freed ourselves of the shackles of the past.

(3) American mobility now gives us leverage to aid in protecting our allies (including Taiwan) and in establishing a balance of power in the east.

(4) The United States has adjusted to the coming reality of a three power world.

But these accomplishments are not final. In fact, the long range goals at this time are difficult to perceive. All we really know is that the United States is now positioned as a competitor in a changed world of sometimes competing and sometimes cooperative nations and interests.

Our present posture, furthermore, is intimately connected with the personality and abilities of one man — Richard Nixon. His importance can be understood if one contemplates a different President taking part in the next round of discussions. Consider, for a moment, the maudlin mushiness of a George McGovern, or the truculence of a Barry Goldwater. One can substitute other names at will, and instant comparison will disclose the fact that the rest of the game (or at least the next few years) depends upon Mr. Nixon.

For our lives, land, peace and happiness ruquire that the game be well played. This calls for the absolute loyalty to America and her interests together with the intelligence, toughness, vision and courage shown by our President.

It is widely recognized that Mr. Nixon is a master of the sometimes intricate art of American politics. Part of his success has been found in his ability to make hard bargains, to preserve options under pressure and to move decisively at just the right moment. These same skills and his fundamental opaqueness and mobility are assets that are peculiarly his, and , happily ours through his office and action in our interest.

So considered, it seems we have won — if. If the game continues with the United States acting as an intelligent and crafty competitor. The kickoff was great. Let's hope the rest of the game goes as well.

There's One Thing Wrong . . .

There is one thing wrong with the one-act play presented last Thursday to members of the Pacifica Chamber of Commerce.

Not enough people saw it.

This is not a reflection on the chamber. For there was a full house attending the noon luncheon at Nick's Restaurant.

The point is, the play is so apropos to how today's family relationships are directly related to the drug scene, it ought to be mandatory fare for all parents everywhere, with their children sitting by their side.

"How was the Trip?", written for the National Institute of Menhal Health by Elizabeth Blake, tells a touching story of how youth become disillusioned and seek solace in drugs.

The thing about this play is that it starts out so unobtrusively, and builds to such a climax you are glad it is over.

It becomes too real. It is something you don't want to associate with. That's what makes it an excellent production. It has you tied into the problem, and thinking about it.

Drugs are real. The problem is one none of us wants to be associatel with. But it can happen, and does happen, in any family.

This play centers around the homecoming of a son from college, who brings the drug scene into the family living room.

In this family, the father is a preoccupied businessman. Both he and the mother, truly fond of their children, provide all the necessities of life. They simply aren't aware, nor apparently concerned about their children's true feelings. Neither are they willing to think bad of their children.

Two separate pieces of dialogue illustrate these points.

In one, the daughter says she didn't like camp. Her father retorted, "You should have, it cost plenty." Just think, that little girl was getting all the good things in life except some individual love and attention) and didn't appreciate it

In the other scene, where the son reveals his association with drugs, he says, "Nobody wants to listen, unless we hear what we want to hear. Talk about it (drugs) now. Not in the morning. It's here. It probably walked in when you were not looking."

The parents are astounded that with all the things they've done for their children (except showing personal interest) this could happen.

Certainly there is no easy remely to the drug problem. But it would be interesting if there were statistics available that showed comparative results of a family situation where children are loved as people — not objects.

Authorities Too Lenient

AUTHORITIES AT SERRAMONTE have been far too lenient for this writer's money with that group of parents that is harranguing students attending the campus.

We asked why they are allowed to come on campus and attempt to arouse black and brown students with their rhetoric and received only a sad smile and shrug from school officials. The product of their "demands" in the wake of the resignation of a black mathematics teacher (Roosevelt Thomas) last week drew blood between a couple of white and black students.

THE IRONIC PART of this incident is that while one of these adults -- a male — was outside the high school building — preaching "love for everyone" —inside, the bitterness was mounting and two students were spotted exchanging blows and not blowing kisses. A simple school fight it wasn't. Thankfully most of the students acted adult throughout last week's unrest even if some parents didn't!

ELECTIONS HEATING UP — The alternating drizzle and sunshine over the past weekend brought out a lot of candidate posters. The signs seem to sprout and bloom on every vacant lot in the North County. Those candidates who tack their signs to utility poles and other candidates' signposts should themselves be tacked to a wall. There is nothing uglier to this aging reporter's eyeballs than a poster stuck on a utility pole or growing tree.

P.S. ON ELECTIONS — We'll be coming out soon with our priceless (and pointless) council predictions.

RAMBLINGS — Why is the proposed Colma police reserve force such a secret? Shouldn't the people know in whose hands their safety lies? . . . And why did those three members of the Colma Council — Glenn Duncan, Raymond Ottoboni Sr. and Earl Taylor — attend last week's Hillside Homeowners' Association Installation Dinner in San Francisco? Members don't vote in Colma, or do they ? . . . Did you know that all "big" functions such as the popular Hillside affair (which installed Bud Durham as president for the second straight year) must be held OUTSIDE Daly City. Reason: Ain't no place big enough inside the city for 300-plus persons.

SOMETHING'S WRONG WITH the "emergency" system at Mary's Help Hospital, we say again (having said it last two years ago).

Here, again, is an actual case history as told us by an irate friend and father of an infant daughter. Last week the 8-month-old daughter took a tumble down a steep flight of basement stairs. The distraught mother, only a short time in the country, called the husband — who happens to be executive vice president of a major nationwide company — who drove like the wind from office to home to hospital. Having driven in record time some ten miles, another record of sorts was set after reaching the facility. The child had visible facial injuries but that didn't make any difference to the person on the receiving desk in emergency (doesn't that name "EMERGENCY!!!" sound fast and efficient?). She asked all about the parents and the medical coverage, etc., etc., and then, while the parents were half out of the skulls with worry over their most prized possession, attempts were made to call the family physician "as a matter of courtesy."

Finally, the parents blew up — they wanted the doctor — any doctor — to check the child immediately and insure that she was all right.

Fortunately the baby sustained only facial bruises and cuts. But why must people be put through a wringer like this? It is not an isolated case when one goes into a hospital with an emergency nowadays. The almighty buck, it seems, may be weak in dealing in foreign countries, but it appears to be strong enough at home to keep some folks from receiving medical care — or at least slow down the process.

BOB BERNICCHI of the North San Mateo County Sanitation District is now on a "consultant" basis with the district. Bernicchi was district manager until recently when he decided to take on the cold, cruel world of private enterprise. Predictions are that Dave Gehre will take over the post.

RECORD HOLDER — Restaurateur Bruno Scatena (Westlake Joe's) has copped first, second and third place trophies in the winter-spring bowling league at Swanson's Bowl in Daly City for the past three years. Bruno sponsors all 12 teams in the league. And that's one sure way to win.

COLMA ELECTIONS — Mayor Raymond Ottoboni, who is not up for reelection, told candidate Gene Daneluz last week he would eat every vote over 15 the challenger got in the upcoming April race. Wonder if votes taste anything like crow?

POLICE STUFF IN D.C. — There he was, walking around eating an apple, but no one who saw him bothered to call police. Why get involved? Stolen from the D.C. Scavenger Company offices within three blocks of the police department was an assortment of tools . . . On the other hand, if something disturbs a person they are quick to call police. Some folks get miffed over dogs barking, parakeets shouting, and jets jetting overhead.

Our gripe this week is motorcycles.

Those noisy two-wheeled monstrosities are enough to drive a person out of his mind. Doesn't the city have laws on these contraptions? One of the first things the police ask is: "Have you talked over the noise with the motorcycle owner?" They gotta be kidding! Have you ever seen one of the persons who ride those "real" bikes?

No thankkew.

Letters to The Editor

Editor, The Post:

I was surprised to read that modifications of nearly every description were even proposed for the Constitutional amendment on women's rights.

Our Constitution and the whole idea of a free society rests on the fact that every right comes with a corresponding responsibility, and that the whole package of rights and freedoms comes equipped with an inseparable package of responsibilities that must necessarily be included if it is to work.

For example, the right of free speech and free press implies a responsibility to not slander or libel anyone. The right of the people to keep and bear arms implies a responsibility to those who avail themselves to this right to learn to use guns safely and only for lawful purposes. In short, each specific right has its responsibility.

In addition, citizenship in our great nation and basking in the light of its rights and freedoms implies that responsibility to serve the nation when called. This, of course, includes military service. In the past, I have supported both the civil rights movements for minorities and the right-to vote amendment for 18-year-olds, as both have served our country well (and spilled a lot of their blood on the battlefields of Vietnam). By this standard, women have yet to earn their right to vote. Let's see them pick up a rifle, stand shoulder to shoulder with our fighting men, get maimed and killed as line infantrymen, just like all the others who fought and died so that we can today enjoy our citizenship in this great nation.

The instant women achieve full equality with men, they should no longer have need, nor should they expect the continuance, of the extraordinary protection they now receive under the law. This would mean the abolition of laws specitying maximum hour and maximum allowable weight-lift for women. This should also cancel out laws against rape unless the law defines a comparable felony that women can be charged with. Statutory rape would be abolished unless it also becomes a felony for women to sleep with under-age boys. Benefits as widows, survivors etc. would instantly vanish. Alimony and child support would be outlawed as discriminating against men (something they can get away with now in their protected status).

The rights that men enjoy under our Constitution also carry a gargantuan load of responsibilities that goes with them. Is it too much to expect those frail creatures to shoulder a full load of responsibility to go with the full load of rights they seek?

ANDY BREGLIA,
San Bruno.

Our Viewpoint

Suddenly, They Are Adults!

Last Saturday morning an approximate 1,100,000 young Californians between the ages of 18 and 21 suddenly became adults under the law. It all came about rather quietly and without any visible celebration. There was no clangor of bells, tooting of horns, or blast of fireworks when the hour of midnight struck.

It will take a long time before the judgment of history will record whether or not this enfranchisement of more than a million youths was, in fact, an historical event. The verdict will depend upon how they use their new adult status.

But, pending that distant judgment, let all of us who have long shared the title of adults bid a hearty welcome to those youngsters who have now entered upon that sometimes doubtful dignity. It may take them quite a while to discover that there is more hope in being "too young" than in being "too old."

Still, the real change is only a matter of law and not of biology or true age. Legally this million plus California young folk are now adults instead of minors, but they are no older. However, by making them adults and electors, the law now appears to presume they are wiser.

This is the area in which they must prove themselves.

There are no certain formulas for wisdom which is largely composed of education and the ability to use what one has learned, experience and the ability to profit by it, and the formation of judgment by the processes of reason. All of this must be tempered by constantly remembering that what may seem wise to some persons can seem folly to others.

To resolve that contradiction it is necessary to keep an open and temperate mind, to distrust emotional thought, to learn patience, loyalty and the old-fashioned virtues of honesty, faith, honor and trust.

That is quite an order and precious few adults have ever achieved all this — or ever will. Perhaps some of the new adults will make it. They have the chance and we hope they will.

Better Look More Closely

The San Francisco Ballet's slogan for their spring season is a challenging, "Look what the Ballet's doing at the Palace." They had better look more closely to what they're doing if they are to realize an ambitious goal as outlined recently by its director Lew Christensen.

Neither the dancing nor the choreography through four offerings in their first program that played two nights in succession were distinguished, uplifting or memorable. They were promising, however, in occasional moments of solo and duo work.

The company's better dancers shone in an otherwise spotty, inconsistent quality of group performance. Where Robert Darling's dramatic silver space mobile in "Split" was provocative and imposing, the dancing by male and female corps dressed starkly in white leotards didn't measure up to the setting's visual impact.

Morton Subotnick's electronic score, "Silver Apples of the Moon" added double interest to the piece choreographed by John Butler but the dancers weren't able to execute it effectively. It lacked unity or movement and needed emotional thrust.

The evening had begun with a revival of "Variations De Ballet" and the pity there is that it created a slump too early. If tedium sets in during the first ballet, it puts all those following at a disadvantage with a waning and wearying audience.

Even so, Lynda Meyer and Robert Gladstein had some lovely movements together and separately, during the George Balanchine-Lew Christensen collaboration to Glazounow's music.

The best of the four was by Victoria Gyorfi, John McFall (especially and Joan deVere) the trio who executed Christensen's "Divertissement d'Auber to Auber's music with costumes by Rouben Ter-Arutunian. It had strength and theatrical flair.

Last and least was a frothy, old fashioned, silly, and frequently sloppy new work by Christensen titled "Tingel, Tangel, Tangel, Taenze." It had nothing new to offer, no highlights, and no imagination. Even Robert O'Hearn's pastel costumes looked faded.

For a company begging recognition and respect in the cultural community, there had better be better precision, tighter direction, and innovative choreography. The best to be said for their opening efforts is that they worked hard, showed spirit and must surely improve.

Better Business

Call a 'Reputable' Contractor

By LORENE BEASLEY

With spring comes the desire to "clean house." The rugs need cleaning after the winter months, a worn chair should be reupholstered and outside, the house looks shabby. A new coat of paint would make it look like a million dollars. Bigger ideas may come to life. You may decide to build that recreation room, or study or an extra bedroom. Whatever you need, your first move should be to call a "reputable" contractor.

In all your dealings, "reputable" is the key word to assure satisfaction.

How do you go about selecting a man to do a good job and who will meet all the obligations of his contract?

Deal only with a reputable businessman — after checking his record for performance and reliability. He should be able to give you names of previous customers who could recommend the quality of his work. The Better Business Bureau can give you a factual report on a contractor's reputation.

Get estimates from several firms. Insist upon a written contract from the man you choose. Be sure that the contract spells out in detail the work to be done and the amount to be charged. If there is a "cancellation" clause which calls for payment of damages if you cancel your contract, be sure and understand it. Sometimes companies neglect to perform part or all of the work and you decide to cancel the contract.

At that point you are open to suit by the contractor and you may be forced to settle by paying off in part, even though you have received no service.

You would be wise to insert a clause which states the starting and finishing dates of the work. Never sign a completion certificate until the work is actually finished to your complete satisfaction.

Shop around for the lowest cost of financing available to you. It is not wise to haggle over prices with your contractor. If you hire an honest man to do your work he will give you as much value as he can for the price he quotes you. If you force him to cut his price he may do so, but possibly at a cost to you.

If you are a "do-it-yourself" person do not neglect to cover any helper you may hire with adequate insurance.

Make sure also that any professional workman you hire is fully covered for possible accidents.

Acquiring Some Sentence Sense

The great Montaigne wrote, "The greater part of this world's troubles are due to questions of grammar." If this is true, does it not follow that people who aspire to problem solving positions in the government should be capable of using good grammar? Yet every election seems to bring forth candidates who mutilate the English language.

Indeed, the air is polluted with fractured English from political speeches. Let two serve as examples. "It don't make no difference what my opponent said, he sets where he took his stand." And, "I hadn't ought to have set back so long because things have gotten into a bad shape, but if I'm elected I won't leave them go that way."

Persons who make such statements lack a quality that the authors of Harbrace College Handbook have named sentence sense. "Lack of sentence sense," they write, "means that they are unable to communicate your thoughts and are also locked outside the thoughts of intelligent men and women."

SENTENCE sense can be acquired or at least increased by consulting Harbrace College Handbook. It was prepared to be a guide for writers and speakers as well as a text for use in classes. In it there are seven major sections. Each in turn is divided into subtopics for ready reference. Surely candidates and anyone else who must speak and write for public consumption should be aware of this handbook.

Harbrace's handbook, however, is only one of the textbooks of correct grammar that may be consulted profitably. Another, the Berlitz Complete Handbook of Effective English, has been used by thousands who have improved their ability to communicate effectively. It was prepared to help adults in five major areas: to speak and write with confidence; to write letters, reports and speeches that get results; to master grammar through a simple three-part system; to eliminate errors in conversation, and lastly to build vocabulary. It is written as a guide to "everyone who is aware of the value of expressing hiself well."

JOSEPHINE BAKER's, The Correct Word, is an old book, but yet a vital tool. In truth it is a "dictionary" of everyday errors in English. For each item it gives both the correct and the incorrect usage. It also gives the rule that makes one usage correct and the other incorrect.

Surely speaking correctly is, as H. George Classen writes, necessary "for unless we give things their proper names and order them in their proper sequence, we shall be lost in a world of chaos, where noting has meaning."

A LITTLE BIT of Blarney is the theme for an evening of Irish entertainment being planned for March 15, at 8 p.m., by the St. Andrew's Community of Daly City (St. Francis Square). Westmoor P-TA 18-Year-Old Vote Talks

A program of mutual interest to parents and students, the impact of the 18 year old vote, is planned for the Westmoor High P-TA meeting March 23, Pres. Mrs. Doris Fox announced.

The program will be held at 8 p.m. in the school cafeteria.

Voter registration will be available on this evening.

Speakers will include Keith C. Sorenson, Leo J. Ryan, and James V. Grealish. Two students, to represent the 18-21 voters, will be Richard Adams for the college voting age group and Carol Edwards, the high school vote. After each speaker, questions can be discussed.

District Attorney Sorenson will cover the legalities of the new voting law. He is a past president of the Califonia State District Attorneys' Assn.

Jim Grealish, US Naval Reserve captain, will speak on "National Defense and the 18 Year-Old Vote." A graduate of USF, Grealish has received many awards and decorations for his years of service in the U.S. Navy.

Assemblyman Ryan of the 27th District, will speak on the impact of this new vote on legislation in Sacramento. Ryan is a former teacher.

Richard Adams, recent Westmoor graduate, is now attending College of San Mateo and majoring in special education. He will speak about election issues he feels are important to the new voter and bring statistics based on a poll he is taking among college students.

Representing Westmoor High School student body will be Carol Edwards. Although voting for the first time, Carol has had much experience in government and political campaigns. She qualified to represent Westmoor at Girls' State last summer and recently attended the presidential classroom for Young Americans in Washington, D.C.

Pack 129 Slates Pinewood Derby

Cub Scout Pack 129 has announced its annual Pinewood Derby for March 24 at the Hope Lutheran Church hall.

The Pack has recently held its annual Blue and Gold Dinner, under chairmanship of Mrs. Dennis King.

The Cubs made place-card napkin holders for each member of their family. The denmothers were busy making table decorations that were very clever-

Den 1 had a record of every cubin the den receiving an award.

The following awards were given:

Den 1: Keith Lindstrom, Webelos; Steve King, Bear, Gold Arrow, Silver Arrow, Denner; Bill Farber, Ass't. Denner; Brian Molver, Gold Arrow, Silver Arrow; Stuart Molver, Gold Arrow, Silver Arrow; David Melius, Gold Arrow: Larry Cockerill, Wolf, Recruiter; Travis Rath, Bobcat.

Den 2: Steve Chiappari, Webelos, 2- year pin.

Den 3: Charles Elliot, Wolf, Gold Arrow, 3 Silver arrows.

Webelos: Kevin Capitolo, scholar; Kenny Theis, artist; George Hedzick, geologist, scientist, engineer, arrow of light; John Ryan, artist.

Following the boys' awards, Den Mother Coach Gunly Feil, received an acknowledgement award for her hard work in all phases of Scout work.

Each boy is asked to make a report at some time on the work their den is doing. This month's report was made by Cub Scout Bill Farber of Den 1:

"Our den has been pretty active for the last month. We saved about $17. We didn't use much of it except for supplies; so our den mother said we could go to Shakey's Pizza Parlor. Our den mother bought 4 pizzas and a couple Cokes for all of us. They showed movies: The Three Stooges, Charlie Chaplin and cartoons. When we were done eating we went on a play horse. The horse cost one slug which you could get at the desk or use a penny. Then when we were done we went fossil hunting and found many shell fossils.

"A couple weeks later we went to Toys R Us to get kites. A week later we took the kites and put them together. It was a windy day so we went up to the park and flew them. One of my pals lost his."

Court St. Mary Reception for New Members

Regent Mrs. George Day, announces that Court St. Mary 1155, Catholic Daughters of America, will hold its second reception of new members this term on March 16, 8 p.m. at Our Lady of Perpetual Help Hall, 80 Wellington Ave., Daly City.

Courts Golden Gate 913 and Our Lady of Angels 1732 will join Court St. Mary in this reception of new members.

A buffet dinner of Filipino and American dishes will be served after the colorful reception ceremonies.

Any practicing Catholic lady 18 years and older is invited to join Court St. Mary. For further information, contact Regent, Sabina Day at 755-3780 or Mrs. Eva Baldwin, Archdiocesan Chairman of Extension, at 755-7716.

Serramonte Seniors Set Flea Market

The Senior Class of Serramonte High School (located just up the hill from Serramonte Shopping Center), invites the public to their Flea Market, March 18, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Everything from handmade goods to household rummage will be sold by various organizations throughout the community.

Those interested in renting a space may contact the Senior Class Officers of Serramonte High School. This event will benefit the Senior Class activities this year.

Card Party Calendared By San Bruno Druids

A Card Party will be sponsored Wednesday by the San Bruno Druids Circle 188. Esther Cure will be chairman of the 8 p.m. event at the American Legion Hall, 757 San Mateo Avenue. The general public may attend.

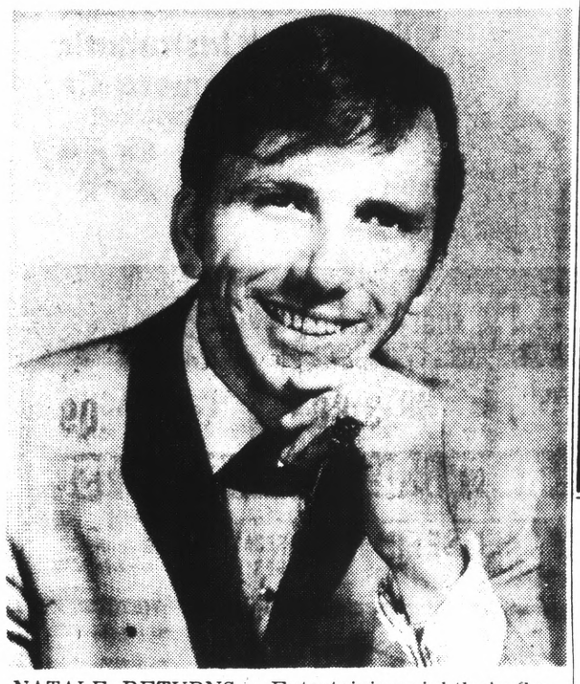
Sammy's Kitchen In Downtown Burlingame

Downtown Burlingame has a new Chinese restaurant, and it is destined to be a thriving success. Sammy's Kitchen, located at the corner of Lorton and Burlingame Avenues, features American and Chinese food seven days a week. Owned by Sammy Van, a former manager at the world famous Ilikai Hotel in Honolulu, the restaurant's main attraction is a special Dynasty Dinner. Service is swift and courteous. Also, orders to take out . . . Free parking is just another well-thought-out accommodation at Vince Licata's Italian and Seafood restaurant. There are "lots" of space on either side of this luncheon and dinner mecca, which is open to serve you seven days a week. The different dining areas and the cocktail lounge are enjoying a steady flow of appreciative patrons . . . Accolades to Andy Ardito, industrious general manager of the Lord Fletcher Inn, who maintains the high quality of service always to be found here. This plus Atherton restaurant, with its authentic English atmosphere, grog and cuisine, is one of the most successful dining operations on the mid-Peninsula . . . The Iron Horse restaurant has the friendly charm and atmosphere of old New Orleans, and the home-like hospitality of old San Francisco. Luncheons and dinners are always in full swing with the "in" crowd, and its popularity has spilled over into the banquet room.



NATALE RETURNS — Entertaining nightly in the cocktail lounge at Stuart Anderson's Black Angus Restaurant in San Mateo is everyone's favorite, the incomparable Natale. The piano artistry of this loved-by-all entertainer can be enjoyed in the plush lounge of this outstanding restaurant nightly, Tuesdays through Saturdays.

Bruno Fava's Private Banquet Room Feature

For a private group of 20 persons, or more, Bruno Fava, personable chef-owner of Bruno's in downtown San Mateo, can tab each dinner at a modest $3.25. Plus, each diner has a choice of three or four entrees, and all dinners come complete with soup and salad. If you're celebrating something special, it would be well worth your while to contact Bruno . . . Old fashioned Chicken and Dumplings and real Southern Fried Chicken are just two of the house specialties at the New Southern, a South San Francisco restaurant specializing in the finest southern cooking "outside of the Mason-Dixon Line." Also available are tasty charcoal broiled steaks, prime rib and many Italian dishes. Although the dining room is spacious, it's wise to make reservations for weekends and Holidays . . . As an enticement for Sunday diners, Bob Lavoie, general manager of The Black Stag restaurant in Belmont, is offering free wine with any dinner on the menu. This offer is good only on Sundays . . . Celebrity Fashion Jewels is one of the many business organizations frequently utilizing the meeting facilities of Fred and Jerry Rapp's Holiday Inn, South an Francisco. Over 75 gals from Celebrity gather here at least once weekly.

Ben Jonson's 'Beastly Beverages'

The Ben Jonson restaurant, located in San Francisco's Cannery, is well known for its unusual cocktail lounge with its "beastly beverages," excellent food, great service and friendly atmosphere. The waitresses, formerly outfitted as serving wenches, are now costumed as squires and pages. It's a most unusual restaurant and one you should really visit. The first floor houses the cocktail area and Ale Garden; the second floor boasts the dining room, where luncheon, dinner and banquets are festively served . . . Frank and Fannie Torres, who have in their lifetime becomes a Coastside landmark, continue to offer their South American specialties of the house at Torres Beach restaurant, located on a picturesque stretch of Highway One through Montara . . . If your dining preferences include a view, you'd have to go a long way to beat the San Francisco skyline as seen from all rooms at the Costa Brava restaurant, where gourmet Continental food is featured. Open daily for both luncheon and dinner. The La Mancha banquet room will seat up to 110 persons; ample parking space . . . Delegates to the big Car and Truck Leasing Convention are raving about Phil Lehr's new cocktail sensation at the Steakery, in downtown San Francisco. It's the Danish Blue Martini, served with a huge California ripe olive, stuffed with Danish Blue Cheese.

Scotty Campbell's Menu

The dinner menu at Scotty Campbell's is highlighted by a variety of such dishes as Beef Brochetti Flambe, Half Chicken (broiled or fried), Barbecued Baby Ribs, Prime Rib (as you like it) and New York Steak. Imagination and skill are combined at this award-winning restaurant in Redwood City. A suggestion from the a la carte menu, which is rich in creations, is Choice Cut Sirloin and Scampi. "Our Broiled Mahi Mahi is claimed as the best by those who have even ordered it in the Islands," reports co-owner Mary Lou Francis

Samuel's Deli Open 7 Days And Should Be

Welcome to the Peninsula, Harvey Veprin and Gloria Yonan, who recently opened the attractive Samuel's Deli, located at 163 West Twenty-fifth Avenue in San Mateo. This is a delicatessen and small restaurant combination offering eat-in and take-out foods. There's a wide selection of cold cuts and a variety of imports that defy you to say "no" to a little of "this and that." We weren't hungry when previewing the exterior, but a short scanning of the counter display found us ordering sandwiches with all the Kosher trimmings. Topping this off with an Apple Studel and a toasted bagel meant shifting our usual dinner hour of 7 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. Samuel's Deli is open seven days a week — and rightly should be. Stop in — you'll be glad you did . . . Weekend dinner tip: The Steak and Lobster Tail Combination as prepared at the charming Red Cottage Restaurant in Menlo Park. This is a relatively recent addition to Owner Ken Parrett's extensive dinner menu. Included with the combo are salad, baked potato, vegetable and a glass of wine.

Plan A Group Party At Bay Meadows Now

The "In" set has discovered that there is more to night horse racing than making a wager and keeping fingers crossed that you'll have a winner. Make up a party and have a race named for your group, visit the Winner's Circle, and have your picture taken with the winning Quarter Horse. Group plans for 20 or more are offered at Bay Meadows in San Mateo for fun and fun-raising. For this special service Bay Meadows offers admission, reserved seat, and dinner in the Turf Club for just $5.50. For more and complete information, contact Jerrylee Vanderhurst, Bay Meadows' Special Events Director (345-1661). The 56-day Quarter Horse Race meet will get under way Saturday, March 18, and continue through June 3. First race: 7:45 p.m., Tuesdays through Saturdays at Bay Meadows in San Mateo . . . Chung Peng, co-owner of the Mandarin Star and Mandarin House restaurants, bills the two operations as the "Perfect Twins." With such stars as Liberace and Sammy Davis, Jr. being headliners in the adjacent Circle Star Theater, the Mandarin Star has been especially bustling. Ask about their special package which includes dinner and theater tickes. You're sure to save money.

ELECTRIFIES AUDIENCES — Singing star Andy Russell comes to the Garden Bar of the Miyako Hotel in San Francisco March 14, through April 18. Three shows nightly, except Sunday and Monday, no cover and no minimum.

Cleveland Jones Trio Airport Plaza Hotel

Local critics are giving great reviews to the Cleveland Jones Trio, currently appearing in the lounge of Airport Plaza Hotel, Millbrae. Included in the threesome's repertoire, Tuesdays through Saturdays, is a medley of hits from the '60's and special Chicago material, which is very difficult for a trio to do . . . Prior to being a co-owner of La Cigogne, a splendid French restaurant on Third Avenue, Chef Fernand Wagner worked at Alexis and La Bourgogne in San Francisco. Is it any wonder one of his recipes is featured in the March issue of P.G.&E. Progress! . Among the many changes brought about by Frederick Haas, new chef at Cardoni's Half Moon Bay Inn, is the addition of new luncheon and dinner menus. Known throughout the world for his culinary artistry, Frederick is the man to plan any menu . . . Now that Dave Rasmussen is out of the automobile business, you can bet there will be an added amount of activity at his Shadows of San Mateo restaurant. In fact, some big news will be breaking here soon. So check future Bright Lights columns for the details.

From Politics To Restaurants

When he isn't assisting in Pacifica political matters, busy Nick Gust is tending to his complex of restaurants located in Rockaway Beach on a picturesque stretch of beach. A favorite gathering place for large parties is Nick's restaurant and lounge, the oldest of these popular dining spots. There's dancing on Friday and Saturday evenings to the Del Carlo Combo; Joe Payer provides organ music on the other evenings. Family-style food is served for breakfast, lunch and dinner . . . Across the street, also fronting the Pacific, is The Papagayo Room, with emphasis on Mexican food. Located on the upper level of the same building is The Moonraker, which features a nautical theme accented by assorted ships' gear, and Continental dishes. You're in a world apart as you dine with the fabulous view, enhanced after sundown by a lighting system Nick Gust has arranged along the shoreline . . . High on the Exposition Fish Grotto wine list is a special import from Israel. Labeled Carmel Hock, the vint is a dry, white wine from the vineyards of Palestine. Try this delicious import at the Expo on your next visit to Fisherman's Wharf.

Buddy Ebsen Visits Finocchio's

Buddy Ebsen, star of stage, screen and television, received a warm round of applause when introduced by emcee Carroll Wallace during a recent ringside visit to Finocchio's. Ebsen and his lovely wife, who stayed through two shows, were very much impressed with the dancing of female impersonator Reno De Carlo, formerly of the Mexican Folklorico Ballet . . . If ever a chef deserved a prize for pizza, it is Enrico Romano, the tireless businessman-chef who owns and operates Romano's Italian restaurant in Rockaway Beach, Pacifica. Known in some circles as "the purveyor of pepperoni," and known in other circles as "the linguini linguist." Romano is a man who wears many hats. But it's always as a pizza maker that he is remembered by his friends and diners . . . Members of the California Republican League chose the San Francisco Hilton Inn to entertain their president, Bruce Hasenkamp, Assistant Dean of the Stanford Law School. The Board of Directors and guests enjoyed cocktails and dinner at the airport Inn's Bayshore Room . . . Earl Webb, golfing mixologist at Lew Lehr's Steak House, in San Francisco's Marina district, scores eagles like most golfers hit par. His latest: An eagle on the 14th hole at Indian Valley.

NPL Swim—It's SSF Again

By JOHN GETTLE

"This swimming team is the best I've coached in my nine years at South San Francisco High," claims coach Cliff Sansot, "and I can see now that our toughest competition will be from Terra Nova."

That was proved on Friday as SSF broke five league records while dominating the North Peninsula League Relays. As predicted, Terra Nova came in second — even though it was a distant second.

It was the fifth time in the last nine relay meets that SSF has taken control. The Warriors have annexed eight league swimming championships since 1961.

The scores were: SSF 66, Terra Nova 40, Jefferson 17, El Camino 15 and Oceana 12. The Warriors won every event but one. It looks like the rich are going to get richer this year.

Of SSF's varsity squad, 12 men have returned from last year's competition. Senior freestyler John Holzwarth is again expected to dominate 50 and 100 yard events; John's brother, Steve, will attempt to take butterfly and individual medley honors.

Terra Nova only managed first place in the 200 breaststroke relay, but was able to place in every race. First year coach Monty Iwanga boasts two definite prospects to support his run for the title in senior Mike Neal and junior Jim Auleb.

Neal is currently holder of the NPL diving record, and now includes a much improved breaststroke in his repertoire.

Auleb is a very sound allaround man and makes the individual medley his specialty. Both swimmers did a creditable job in yesterday's meet.

Host school El Camino had a disappointing afternoon, but is optimistic about upcoming competition.

The Colts will be led by outstanding senior Bob Madrigal, who is currently the holder of seven school records. Supersoph Brian Cummins looks to be the best in years at individual medley.

Jefferson's aquamen did a good job in the relays, placing three times. They claim power in a twosome who helped to champ their frosh-soph team two years ago, seniors Gary MacArthur and Steve Barnes.

Considering the lack of a home pool, Oceana did surprisingly well in the relays. They went with their best men and were moderately successful.

Le Pacini

North County Attendance

Well folks, we did it again. Returned to our annual Mission High School Baseball Alumni dinner and general all around drinking bout, and just about everybody there was from Daly City or Pacifica.

There were Ray Santiago, Pete Zasso, Bill Slack, Lefty Bob Collins, Lloyd Dickey (San Bruno, actually, but a former Daly City resident), Gene Gaviglio, Joe Monterosso, the whole bunch. Even more important were the people who DIDN'T show up who usually do. Like Jim Kazarian, Frank Strazullo, Willie Bignardi. We disagree with those who said good riddance. Kazarian is always good for a few drinks from his plumber's union expense account. And Bignardi is always good for a few entertaining stories about his exploits in the San Francisco Golf Tournament. Strazulo can always be counted upon to insult Zasso at least once or twice, and that is a plus.

And, of course, there was the old impresario, Johnny Swanson, otherwise known as Mr. Westlake Bowl. Swanson was talking about how he beat Jack Nicklaus (with a handicap, of course), and why Nicklaus is so great.

"Nicklaus is a true pro," said Swanson. "He doesn't just show up on game day and overpower a ball and out-finesse an opponent. He is a true student of the game. He studies every hole of every course he's ever played, and some he hasn't. And he doesn't study them like most of the other pros do.

"He studies the architects. He can tell you where Robert Trent Jones lays his water pipes on a course. He'll know everything about a course just by knowing the architect before he even sets foot on a course."

Swanson is quite a figure himself. Local people may not realize it, but he's known nationally. Recently, for example, Dick Slay of the Washington, D.C., Star devoted a half page to Swanson headlined, "Master of the Needle."

Says Slay, in part:

"Swanson must be the most widely known bowling alley proprietor in the world . . . Charlie Price's column this month in Golf Magazine . . . related the incident when Swanson was in Washington . . . and was given a ticket to a White House dinner . . . Swanson was seated next to the governor of a Midwestern state who engaged him in a discussion of world affairs.

"Swanson extemporized on a variety of events of the day, apparently with such insight that the governor felt he was in the company of a leading industrialist or government figure.

"When the governor inquired of his companion's line of work, Swanson replied proudly, 'I run a bowling alley.'

"According to the magazine piece, that was the abrupt end of the conversation . . .

"BUT THAT WASN'T the good part," Swanson said. "After the dinner we all get in a receiving line to meet the president. Jack Kennedy was president then and his press secretary was Pierre Salinger, who would introduce the guests to the president as we walked up.

" 'Well, I've known Salinger for a long, long time . . . I walked up in the receiving line and Salinger asked me what the hell I was doing there, and then asked the president for the night off, which he got, so he could go out drinking with me.'

"The man (Swanson) is the absolute master of the put-down and the needle, especially on the first tee after the bet is established.

"Acceptance into Swanson's vast group at the Olympic Club is measured by the number of insults the newcomer can take and return . . .

"Swanson has devised all sorts of verbal and non-verbal devices to unglue an opponent . . . Swanson calls it 'gamesmanship.'

"Actually, this 'gamesmanship' is sort of the way in the west, in contrast to the rigid golf etiquette of the east. There are no compliments for nice shots, and when an opponent's ball seems headed for the bushes, Swanson will holler, 'Get in deep!' Says Swanson, 'Who needs hypocrites?'

"Swanson first met Nicklaus back in 1961 when Nicklaus came through San Francisco on the way back here to win the U.S. Amateur Championship at Pebble Beach. John claims that he had never heard of the blond kid from Ohio at the time, but that's hard to believe because . . . Jack . . . was already tabbed the pro great of the future.

"Anyway, Nicklaus wanted to play Olympic Club and a mutual friend called Swanson to get up a foursome . . .

"According to Swanson, Nicklaus walked onto the first tee and said, "Okay, dad, how many strokes do I have to give you?

" 'Look, kid,' Swanson shot back, 'who the hell did you ever beat for money? I don't need any strokes from you. And when I beat you, just send me all those trophies you got back home on your mantelpiece.'

"John beat the chubby youngster 3-up on the front nine and had him one hole down on the back, before Nicklaus birdied the 17th and 18th. No money changed hands that day. Nicklaus would never admit it within earshot of Swanson, but the old man taught the kid humility, San Francisco-style."

Nelson Cullenward, Examiner golfing writer, called Swanson, in a piece a couple of years ago, "among the best all-around athletes developed in San Francisco," noting that he had lettered (in varsity) in football, basketball, golf, tennis and rugby at the University of San Francisco, played semi-pro baseball, beaten Buzz Fazio at bowling and Nicklaus at golf, had given Willie Mosconi and Dick Sheets "a tussle on the green baize," and during their high school careers, had held Hank Luisetti to the lowest output of his career — six points.

Cullenward also quoted Olympic Club professional Kyle Burton as saying that Swanson is the "best handicap player in the state."

We mention all of the latter as a reminder that Swanson may also be the last of the triple threat hustlers — golf, pool and bowling.

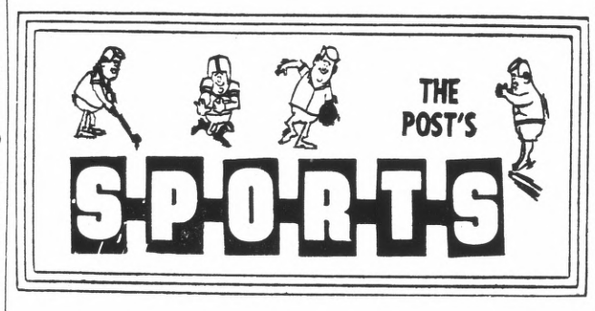
And his frozen foods ain't bad, either.

A FOOTNOTE to that alumni dinner-drink: out of it grew this amazing idea, sprung from the fertile mind of Joe Monterosso, and hatched by a double Remy-Martin a la Pacini, that yours truly make his official comeback this summer as a first baseman for Monterosso's sponsored lob-ball team in the league which will be playing at Marchbanks.

Actually, it wasn't Monterosso's idea that we play first base, exactly, for J & J Plumbing. We sort of planted it subliminally by suggesting to him that our head attracts fly balls like a magnet.

"But don't think the infield is such a safe place," warned Monterosso with all the authority of the old shortstop he once was. "Last year I put myself in the outfield thinking I couldn't handle twisting hoppers anymore, and the first thing I did was run into a fence, slice my head up, and lay out $100 for new glasses."

And he was SOBER that night!



Knights Top MPL Relays

By RAY ROTOLO

Before the Friday's 14th annual Mid-Peninsula League swimming relays at San Mateo High, coaches said that Hillsdale, San Mateo and Aragon were the teams to watch.

In general, the coaches were right. Hillsdale won its seventh MPL Relays (tying San Mateo for total victories over the years). San Mateo and Aragon both did well. But there was a dark horse, too — Mills.

Hillsdale won with 72 points. Mills and Aragon tied for second with 60; Aragon won a coin flip for the second place trophy. San Mateo had 56, Burlingame 42, Capuchino 40 and Crestmoor 22.

In the past the relay standings have been about the same as the final dual meet standings, if that tells you anything.

The only difference is that the relays have little to say about individual brilliance, and a lot to say about strength in depth.

Hillsdale decided to go all out for a varsity title this year, and moved a lot of promising frosh-soph mermen up to the big time. There is only one senior on the varsity squad.

Coach Joseph Prata had high hopes for top sophomore Hans Van Arkel, who broke the sophomore sprint record yesterday in the odd-length San Mateo pool (35 yards) with a 16.2 clocking.

The Knights will also get a lot of help from freshmen Mark Hartman and Al Orsi.

Like Hillsdale, Aragon is a young squad; there are only two seniors. Top man is junior Pete Schouweiler; behind him is a swarm of good sophs and freshmen.

Mills could come up with a few more surprises this season. There are several swimmers returning from last year's squad, including top seniors John Briley and John Wilson.

Defending champion San Mateo lost a lot of power to graduation. The Bearcats do have strong returning letterman Fred Kay, though, along with Mark Peterson and Bob Gerlach, who was the frosh-soph 400 freestyle champ last year.

Burlingame coach John Geer hoped for better than a fifth place finish; he said the league might be stronger than he thought all around. Serra transfer Don Peterson should be one of the MPL's stronger juniors. He'll get help from senior Conrad Lauer, junior Bill Refvem and soph Ed Geuble.

Cap will place its hopes on seniors Casey Greenleaf and Scott Lampshire. Crestmoor may inhabit the cellar again.

But the Crestmoor frosh-soph is loaded. On Friday, the younger Falcons set an MPL Relay record, scoring 99 points while demolishing the rest of the league.

Defensive Lapse Is Demise for Jeff

By JERRY LITTRELL

Defense — the thing that kept Jefferson High School very much in the basketball game Wednesday finally faltered at the end as the Indians were eliminated in the opening round of the Central Coast Section play-offs at Stanford University.

For three-plus quarters, the Indians not only stayed close but actually led the Sacred Heart quintet by four points with six minutes remaining.

But with the tempo speeding up, Jefferson lost control of the ball five straight times and the opportunistic Fighting Irish rallied for a 48-43 victory.

Tonight's action finds tourney-favored Alisal from Salinas going against Robert L. Stevenson of Pebble Beach at 7 p.m. while Menlo-Atherton takes on SCVAL champ Lynnbrook High at 8:30 p.m.

Jefferson's Kenny Smith intimidated the Irish on defense with seven blocked shots, several of the "spike" variety, a goal-tending call. He completely shut off the middle in the final three quarters while his playmates were sticking right with the Irish outside shooters and making them work for every bucket.

Then with the score 38-34, Jefferson, the roof fell in. Picking off two passes and a loose ball, Sacred Heart converted the turnovers into three straight buckets. Then the Irish took two missed Jeff shots and ran the lead to 46-38. And if you've ever tried to catch a Sacred Heart (coach Jerry Phillips' version) team that has an eight-point lead you know what futility means.

Four of those five key buckets came when the Jefferson defense sagged off guards Dana Giovannini and Steve Pasero. Each took turns looking for the inside pass to Hubbard and, finding Smith glowering at them, calmly put in set shots from the 15-foot range.

It had been different earlier as the Jefferson guards had constantly pressured those two and allowed them grand total of three buckets in three quarters. Pasero and Giovannini each hit two long-rangers in the final quarter.

The versatile Indians played SH's type of game for three quarters — run the pattern until the percentage shot came through. As a result of this offense the Indians stayed within four points until early in the third period when Ray Viado's flip shot gained Jeff a 26-26 tie.

Sub Harold Norman gave Jeff its first lead, 31-30, on a turnaround ten-footer with 45 seconds left in the quarter. That high point for Jeff lasted another 2:45.

The Irish had started quickly with center Glenn Hubbard hitting all five of his floor shots in the pattern-dominated game. So methodical and well executed was the game that Sacred Heart was called for just two fouls (both on Hubbard) in the entire first half while Jeff got caught just four times itself. Neither team shot a bonus free throw the entire game.

Jeff didn't even get a free throw until 2:10 remained in the first half. One almost felt cheated at the quick execution of the 32-minute encounter.

THEY'RE NOT really trying to avoid the ball. Especially since Jefferson and Sacred Heart play a control game, but Jeff's Ken Smith (45) and Sacred Heart's Ken Cooper (50) and Terry Richardson do seem to be having a rough time.

Summary Announced for DC Recreation Play

The Daly City Recreation Division announces the scores and the standings to date in the Daly City Boys' Basketball League.

FOURTH GRADE CENTRAL DIVISION

The Pal Tigers got ready for their showdown battle with the OLM Tigers by downing the Pal Serramonte Globetrotters by a score of 25-10. The Tigers were led by the fine play of Doug Dennis and Joe Herbert who scored eight and six points respectively. Paul Lucia also played an outstanding game for PAL. Mike Ryan led the Globetrotter attack as he scored four points. The victory enabled the Tigers to remain one game in front of OLM.

In the final game of the Central Division, the OLM Tigers remained in title contention by downing the Holy Angels Dons by a score of 22-14. Peter Teahan and Dennis Mahoney led the Tigers to this important victory. Both Teahan and Mahoney scored eight points for OLM. Joe Ryan and Dennis Regan were outstanding for Holy Angels.

FOURTH GRADE WESTERN DIV.

The OLM Lions were crowned champions of the Fourth Grade Western Division as they upended the Pal Serramonte Supersonics by a score of 23-11. Three Lions scored six points to lead a balanced OLM attack. Bob Arata, Joe Doughty and Rich Bechtel each found the hoop three times. The champions won eight games and lost one on their way to the title. Congratulations to coach Tom Clerk and his OLM Lions.

In the final Western Division game the Pal Serramonte Greats upset the Holy Angels Saints by a score of 21-9. Frank McPartland led the Greats to victory as he scored 10 points and grabbed 15 rebounds. Jeff Tallerico was outstanding for the Saints. Holy Angeles remained in second place even with the defeat.

Beth Israel wins first playoff game.

FIFTH GRADE EASTERN DIVISION

Looking more and more like the eventual league champions, Beth Israel Judea took a major step towards this role with a 17-12 victory over a tough but outmanned PAL Serramonte Tigers. Randy Layton led the season champs in their first playoff game with six points and was ably helped along by Ross Herwitz who tallied four. Mark Duran scored five for PAL as Don Bunch also played a good game for the losers. Beth Israel is now in the "driver's seat" as they must lose twice to the OLM Hawks before being deprived of the loop crown.

OLM Hawks rolled into the final playoff day by shellacking AAA Warriors 16-6. Terry White led the Hawks' cause with nine big points and a tremendous amount of rebounds as he grabbed almost every missed shot. Jeff McVey anchored the Hawks' tough defense and made numerous steals. Greg Cornejo scored four for the Warriors and Matt Thompson, only a third grader, played a good game on defense.

FIFTH GRADE CENTRAL DIVISION

In the only central division game of the day, it was the "three Mooseketeers" that led PAL Serramonte Vikings to a 30-27 upset victory over OLM Colts. Led by the head "Moose" Paul Cosentino who tallied 14 and assistant "Mooses" Mark Evans and Bobby Christman who each scored eight, the Vikings put themselves into a tie for second place with the Colts. John Grealish, Tom McNab, and Gary Migale each scored four for the losers.

SIXTH GRADE CENTRAL DIVISION

The OLPH Crusaders remain on top of the Sixth Grade Central Division by a one-game margin as we move into the last week of league play. This week the OLPH Crusaders coasted to a 44-11 victory over the AAA Crusaders. Benji Parodi with 12 points led the OLPH attack. Parodi was ably assisted by Dave Howlett and Dana Yuostroza who scored 11 and nine points respectively for the winners. Sam Anagostou played a great game for AAA and scored five points. The Holy Angels Green Devils rolled over the KBYA Globetrotters 32-10. Dan Russell of the Green Devils led all scorers with nine points and Tim Curran played a great defensive game for the winners. Robbie Anderson played a great all around game for the Globetrotters and ended the game with four points. In the last game of the week the PAL Warriors crushed the OLM Panthers 57-16. David Yohannon led all scorers as he tanked eight points for the PAL Warriors who cleared their bench in this game. Mike Lafferty kept OLM's offense moving and sparked on defense in a losing sparked on defense in a losing cause.

SIXTH GRADE EASTERN DIVISION

Beth Israel Judea squeaked by the PAL Bearcats 28-24 in a real thriller in the Sixth Grade Eastern Division to remain in first place. Eric Layton hit the hoop for 12 of Beth Israel Judea's points. Steve Sattler kept the Bearcats close throughout the game as he scored 11 points in a losing cause. The Hunts Bruins downed the PAL Wildcats 29-1 in a close fought battle. Paul Papageorge banged home 15 points for the Bruins and sparkled on defense for the winners. Danny Comoroto led all scorers as he banked in 16 of PAL's 19 points. The OLM Fogtrotters edged the Holy Angels Demons 37-33. Mark Zanobini and Dave Semenero combined to score 23 of Holy Angels points in a losing contest. For the Fogtrotters this win was accomplished by great team effort that kept the ball moving to the basket.

SEVENTH GRADE CENTRAL DIVISION

The LBYA Lobos came from a 12-point half-time deficit to defeat the "upset-minded" AAA Rebels 41-36. Ralph Directo led the Lobos with 12 points, as he and Craig Garrity led the second half scoring spree that put the Lobos atop the league standings with one week to play. Jack Dorn was high scorer in the contest as he hit 18 big points in a losing effort for the Rebels. The Lobos can now sit back and watch what happens between Holy Angels and AAA in the final week as they (Lobos) draw a bye.

Holy Angels Green Machine kept alive its title hopes with a 43-26 victory over Hunts Teamsters. Lou Tricerri was high scorer for the Green Machine as he tallked 19 and was ably helped along by Terry King who grabbed numerous key rebounds. The Green Machine must now win in their final game to force the LBYA Lobos into a playoff for the league crown. Mike Medrano led the Teamsters in scoring with 10 big points.

Fifty-Yard TD Romp Wins for S.M. Girls

Leslie Carlisle's fifty yard touchdown run, combined with the defensive play of Allison Yuen and Laurie Appling, led San Mateo to a 6-0 win over host Capuchino Thursday in Girls Athletic Association A flagball action.

Cap took the B game 7-6, while Hillsdale took Aragon 13-0 in the A's, and fought to a 0-0 tie in the B's.

In volleyball, San Mateo won the B match, but Cap swept the other three divisions. Hillsdale got wins in the B's (15-6, 15-3), and the D's 15-0, 15-5), while Aragon triumphed in the other two games.

It was the second time in the young season Carlisle had scored the winning touchdown.

New After-School Sports Program on Coast Gains

A progress report on seventh and eighth grade after-school sports activities has been received with favor by the Pacifica Laguna Salada School District board of trustees.

The report was prepared through the efforts of assistant superintendent of instruction Marvin Morganti and the city's park, beach and recreation staff members Ginny Silva, superintendent, and Dave Barry, supervisor.

The program is being operated with funds from a community use tax.

The report contains details on degree of participation, staff assignments, cost analysis, review of actual activities and problems incurred.

Morganti said the program is a "good use of funds" and said the report was "optimistic."

Trustee Sid Lorvan said he would like to see more participation by girls. This was concurred in by trustee Wilbur Frye, who also said he would like to see programs initiated, such as gymnastics for individuals.

Trustee Anita Heyman's concern was on the kind of feedback that was coming from the students on whether they had a wide enough choice. She was told it was felt they did.

"Let's not spread to the point where we can't cover them (the activities) adequately," cautioned trustee Dale Buettgenback.

According to the report, problems were created by the short period of time with which the program had to start last September.

Added to this was the unavailability of school district personnel to fill sports leader positions and the unavailability of qualified part-time personnel to fill vacant positions.

The report indicated that preparations can begin this May.

It was suggested in the report that a blanket insurance program for after-school sports programs be considered because of technical problems associated with the requirement that all participants be covered by medical insurance.

The report stated there was a continued need to coordinate the after-school program with the regular physical education program being conducted in the schools.

To do this, according to the report, there is a need for more participation by school district personnel in the sports leader role.

In addition, there would be a need for greater coordination of the physical education program and after-school program through a physical education consultant working with the recreation supervisor in the program.

The report said the impact of the after-school sports program has had a positive effect on the total after-school Community Center program.

According to the report, Community Center staffs have been able to provide more concentrated leadership and more emphasis toward the development of sports programs for third through sixth graders, as well as programs for other children, teenagers and adults.

Guitar to Be Taught In Daly City

Adult Yoga Offered in Daly City

The Daly City Recreation Dept. is offering spring classes in yoga for adults 18 years of age and older.

Classes will be held at Westmoor Park Clubhouse, 123 Edgemont Drive, according to the following schedule:

Intermediates, March 20-May 22, 7:30-9 p.m.,

Beginners, March 22-May 24, 7:30-9 p.m.

Students should wear loose, comfortable clothing with no buttons on the back.

Advance enrollment is requested. Students should send name, address, phone and fee to Daly City Recreation Dept. 134 Hillside Boulevard, prior to first class meeting.

Preference will be given to Daly City residents.

Classes are under direction of Jorge Jauregui.

Indoor Heated Pool Slated

The North San Mateo County YWCA is offering a supervised recreational plunge for men and women.

The plunge. which will be from noon to 1 p.m. on Wednesdays, is scheduled to start in the very near future at an indoor heated pool in Pacifica. Interested persons should call the "Y" office for further details.

An announcement will be made shortly with regard to the classes which the YWCA will be offering in its spring program.

For registration or for more information about the recreational swim, call 756-7370 or contact the YWCA office at 375 South Mayfair, Daly City, 94015.

Rezoning of 4 San Bruno Regions Asked by Miller

Planning Commissioner Leon Miller last week proposed that the San Bruno Planning Commission initiate rezoning of four sections of San Bruno.

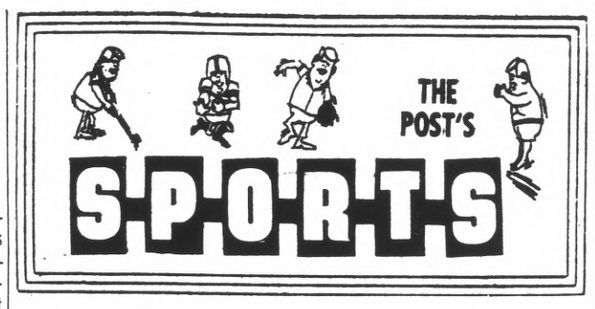
Three areas he wanted rezoned to R-1-D, a special kind of single family zoning more restrictive than ordinary R-1 zoning. The fourth area is the vacant Tanforan land north of Tanforan Shopping Center, now zoned PD, planned development. He wanted that to be reverted to AR, administrative-research, since the PD zoning had not been developed.

In spite of his plea for immediate action on one rezoning, his proposal was put over to the March 20 study meeting, when he would more fully explain it.

He wanted fast action on the Deane and Deane land north of Sharp Park Road, since the owners' representatives had threatened the planners with a "Daly City-type" development when their condominium townhouse plan had been rejected recently.

The other two areas he wanted action on was a site on Sneath and Monterey owned by Challenge Developments, and a site on College and Longview. The former site had once had a rezoning request rejected for a 70-unit apartment and is still R-1. The latter site was once approved for a planned-development duplex site but never developed.

Consultant Larry Wise assured Miller that Deane and Deane could be stopped from a "Daly City-type" development by provisions in the map act which had just become effective this week. It would enable the planners to halt any subdivision which would damage the environment.



Crestmoor Wins Fourth

The Crestmoor High baseball team plated four runs in the sixth inning Thursday to defeat host Sacred Heart 7-3, and gain its fourth consecutive win without a defeat in non-league competition.

In other prep action, Half Moon Bay, behind the clutch pitching of Raymond Reyes, beat Hillsdale, 2-1.

Tied up at 3-3 going into the sixth, the Falcons exploded. Jim Jarvis and Len Bettencourt drew walks to open the frame, sandwiched around a sacrifice by Jeff Hampton. Pinch hitter Ron Kohles, George Ama, and Charley Atkinson all followed with RBI singles, while Steve Ballas wrapped up the scoring with a perfect squeeze bunt to score Kohles.

Stu Bringhurst, using a blazing fastball, pitched well until the fourth, when walks and a couple of errors forced his departure. Jarvis then took over, and picked up the wiun by going three hitless innings while striking out four.

The Cougars (1-1) scored on a run in the third when Richard Hobbs singled, stole second and went to third on a throwing error, and came in on a single by Mateo Pacheco. The clincher came in the fifth when Perry Martin reached first on an error, moved up on Hobbs' single, and scored on a two-base throwing error by Hillsdale's shortstop.

The Knights (2-4), scored their only marker in the sixth on singles by Mike Williamson and Ron Doss, a fielder's choice and an infield out, and another hit by Greg Gorang.

Reyes had five strikeouts and no walks in winning his duel with Williamson, rated as one of the best hurlers in the MPL.

Professional Actors in Coast Chamber Staging

A group of professional actors were the principal speakers at the regular meeting of the Pacifica Chamber of Commerce last Thursday.

They presented a one-act play on drugs, entitled, "How was the trip?" The play was written for the National Institute of Mental Health by Elizabeth Blake.

It depicts a family situation in which the father is a preoccupied businessman. Neither the father nor the mother is aware of the true feelings of their young daughter and son—both having taken part in the drug scene.

Chamber member Lynn White arranged for the presentation through the Greater Bay Area Council of Family Service Agencies.

The actors are part of an organization called Plays for Living. This group has a repertoire of six plays, all involving social problems.

The play centers around the homecoming of the son, and brings the drug problem right into the living room. The parents are portrayed as being truly fond of their offspring, and unwilling to think ill of them.

The parents learned the real truth about their children when the son comes home and confesses he's been on drugs, and then with this experience realizes that his sister is starting the same ill-fated road.

The emotion created by the play was so high, one person in the audience said, "If it hadn't of ended when it did, I would have been crying."

South San Francisco Unified School District Director of Secondary Education Frank McNutt is the new principal of the Spruce Elementary School.

McNutt, with the district for 16 years, has served as teacher, vice principal and principal in the past. He was head of secondary education for four years.

Don Netters in Upset

Burlingame High's tennis team appeared to once more justify its preseason favorite status Thursday with a 7-0 defeat of Capuchino.

In other MPL action, Aragon edged host Mills, 4-3, Crestmoor beat Hillsdale, 5-2, and San Mateo downed Carlmont in a non-league pratice match, 6-1.

Burlingame had a fairly easy time with Cap, but Aragon pulled off the surprise of the young season. Mills was thought to be the only team with the horses to challenge Burlingame this year.

Mills took the first three singles but the Vikes' fortune plummeted from then on. Aragon rattled off the next two singles and both doubles.

Kurt Fristrip disposed of Aragon's Tim Sunderland with a tie-breaker. Bruce Long did the same to the Dons' Mike Callaghan in the longest match of the afternoon.

Burlingame won all its matches in straight sets, and number one man Steve Merchant remained undefeated.

Next week's action should be interesting: Burlingame must face Mills Tuesday afternoon, and then two days later must meet Aragon. Those matches could have a lot to say about the MPL championship.

San Mateo, now 4-0 overall, saw six players remain undefeated — both doubles teams plus singles men Bob Hughes and Dennis Swindell.

Crestmoor's Terry LaPorte and Larry Foster led a Falcon sweep of the singles; Hillsdale's doubles teams of Chris Garcia-Derek Sakazaki and Christ Herman-Eric Swenson saved the Knights from a shutout.

A NEW NAME UNDER THE "LOLLIPOP"

The people at Volkswagen affectionately call their VW symbol a "lollipop." (One enterprising soul even made real ones at one time to give away to youngsters).
But they are very particular about who they let use the symbol because it has come to mean quality in the car, and in the service, and VW wants that reputation to continue.
Our new management has assumed the responsibility of representing VW in the area from the Rasmussen organization. We've been around the VW organization for some time, and know the car, the VW operation, and the responsibility that we face.

The building is a new one, barely a year old. Big and efficient. We pledge to keep it that way and give every owner the kind of service that he has come to expect from VW, and a right to demand.

Stop by. We think you'll like what you see.

Peninsula Job Test Called a Success

A recently completed Peninsula job finding test to find local government work for white collar men and women unemployed owing to aerospace cutbacks was pronounced a success today.

The results were announced in San Jose by Karl Jaensch, project director for the California Department of Human Resources Development.

Of 35 persons enrolled in the special Jobs Creation project since November, 21 now have government jobs — 17 retained in the jobs created for them under the terms of the project. Four found spots in other governmental bodies.

Of the remaining 14, four went back to work in the aerospace industry and three are working in unrelated fields. Only five of the 35 were neither retained nor found other work.

Three San Mateo County agencies participated in the program said Sheila Newberry, contract specialist. The city of San Mateo employed 11, with nine being retained, and two found jobs in other fields. Canada College retained one of two employes and Skyline College reained three.

"I am particularly pleased by the work of those with the colleges," said Mrs. Newberry. "The aides worked with computers to plan programs and to assist in following up on former students."

"We have one project underway in San Francisco which is doing research on the relationship of noise to violence."

The project, which concluded February 29, was a unique local experiment funded through the nationwide Displaced Workers Program (DWP). Some $1,700,000 in DWP money last year was assigned to HRD for the effort on the Pesinsula.

Bulk of the wages paid the trainees came from HRD, with a nominal $1 per hour from the governmental employers.
